Major General Samuel L. Trabue Appointed to Investigate Conditions in Tornado Area

TO ADMINISTER RELIEF WORK

Accepts Appointment From Supreme Chancellor of Knights of Pythias Lodge as its Representative

Major General Samuel L. Trabue of this city, commanding the Uniform Rank, Knights of Pythias, of the United States and Canada, accepted appointment by telegraph, Tuesday evening, as a representative of the supreme lodge, Knights of Pythias, to investigate conditions in the storm-stricken areas of five states swept by a cyclone last week, and administer relief.

General Trabue went to Indianapolis today to organize for the work and arrange an itinerary, and planned to leave tonight or in the morning for the Illinois storm district, where the tornado caused the greatest loss of life and the worst property damage.

Five thousand dollars was wired to Mr. Trabue by Thomas D. Mears of Wilmington, North Carolina, supreme master of exchequer, who by virtue of his office is treasurer of the relief fund, to meet emergency needs of the investigation, and any further expenditures for relief will depend upon Mr. Trabue's recommendations.

The Rushville man was distinctly honored by being selected for this task by John Ballantyne of Boston, supreme chancellor of the Knights of Pythias. He will perform the task without pay as a service for the lodge.

General Trabue began to get some information on conditions in the storm area immediately and was in communication by telephone with Allen Douglas, grand keeper of records and seal of the Illinois grand lodge, and Carl R. Mitchell, Indiana grand keeper of records and seal.

He learned that no member of the Knights of Pythias lodge in Indiana suffered any loss of life or loss of property, but that many Pythians in Illinois suffered injuries and severe property loss.

The relief work of the supreme lodge will not be restricted to Knights of Pythias and their families, however, but will be in co-operation with other agencies already in the field.

This is not the first action of the Knights of Pythias lodge to relieve suffering as the outgrowth of the tornado, General Trabue explained, because immediately after the disaster, the grand keeper of records

RELIEF FUND ON LAST LEG OF $1,000 GOAL

Contributions to Red Cross for Tornado Victims Mounts to $920.75 During the Day

SALVATION ARMY IS AT WORK

The Rush county tornado relief fund was on the last leg of the $1,000 goal today, with $920.75 reported up to noon.

The Eagles lodge helped swell the total today with a contribution of $25, and the remainder of the sums given ranged from $1 to $5.

Contributions to the Red Cross made since Tuesday noon amounted to $86.50.

Envoys Parsons of the local Salvation Army received a message today announcing that the Salvation Army is taking an active part in the relief work in the stricken area. The Army is in complete control of one section of the storm area in Illinois and is rendering invaluable service in other sections, according to the message.

Seventy tons of clothing have been received, sorted, bundled and distributed in the tornado section during the past three days by Army workers and at West Frankfort, Ill., two thousand people are being sustained by the Army. The vice-president of the St. Louis Times wired the Army $1,000 to be used by the Army in the Illinois storm district.

RELIEF CARAVANS PLANNED

Will Clear Away Debris in Storm Stricken Territories

Washington, March 25—American Red Cross headquarters here announced today organization of rural relief caravans to work in the tornado devastated areas of Missouri, Illinois and Indiana.

The caravans will clear away debris, repair fences and barns to permit farmers to proceed with their corn planting which should begin within three weeks.

In this manner the Red Cross hopes to alleviate the serious situation which now threatens about 1,500 farmers in the storm swept districts.

Henry M. Baker, director of Red Cross disaster relief operations, is in charge of the relief caravan mobilization work.

FLOOD WATERS GO DOWN GRADUALLY

Fall is Slight at Griffin. Threatened by Flood, Due to Swollen State of Ohio River

GUARDING AGAINST FIRE

Evansville Firemen Ready to Prevent Outbreak—Supplies Sent to Isolated Home

(By United Press)

Griffin, Ind., March 25—Flood waters of the Wabash and Black rivers which threatened to add to the ruin wrought here by last Wednesday's tornado, today were gradually receding.

Due to the swollen state of the Ohio river, the fall was slight. All roads leading into Griffin were impassable today, at least. Several washouts were reported on the Evansville road and traffic over this road cannot be resumed before Sunday.

Temporary fire headquarters were established today by Evansville fire officials. Four stations were set up in different sections of the town to guard against outbreak of fire in the ruins.

Supplies were again sent out to isolated farm homes by wagon.

A slight rain early today had no effect on the river stage which was 29.1 feet, and falling at Mr. Carmel Ill., above here.

Evansville, Ind., March 25—Flood waters of the Wabash and Black rivers were within a few hundred yards of the ruined village of Griffin, Ind., today.

A heavy downpour of rain in this section of the state during the night ended all hope for immediate relief from the menace of floods.

Piece of Cancelled Check From Princeton Bank Found

Part of a cancelled check cashed at the Peoples American National bank of Princeton, Ind., which was visited by the tornado last Wednesday evening, was found by Joseph Butler of Henderson in a field on the Jenkins farm just west of Henderson last Friday, Mr. Butler revealed today.

There is little doubt but that the piece of paper was blown here by the strong wind which came out of the southwest the evening of the cyclone.

The stamped cancellation on the check showed Princeton, Ind., but the check was torn half in two and it was impossible to determine on what bank it was drawn. The bank's number printed on the check made it possible to identify the check as having been drawn on the Peoples American National bank of Princeton. It was for the sum of $450.00, was written February 18, 1920 and cashed the next day. The first name of the signature could not be made out, but the middle initial and last name was W. McClarin.

Mr. Butler found the check while sowing clover seed and immediately guessed that it had been blown here from Princeton after the tornado.

GRAND JURY CALLED TO MEET THURSDAY

Several Matters to be Brought Before Court Investigators, Prosecutor Announces

WITNESSES ARE SUMMONED

The grand jury of Rush county will be in session Thursday, according to an announcement made today by Gates Ketchum, prosecuting attorney.

The prosecutor stated that there were several things to be brought before the investigators, and a list of the witnesses was given to Sheriff Hunt, who was busy today serving them.

The grand jury was in session a few weeks ago, and recessed until a later date, and is subject to call any time by the prosecutor.

It is expected that the first thing to be taken up Thursday will be the fatal shooting of Ray Lakin by Patrolman Smith, which happened last week, and the evidence obtained for the consideration of the grand jurors to take whatever steps they deem necessary.

MRS. MARY GERAGHTY SUCCUMBS SUDDENLY

HAD LIVED HERE SINCE 1859

Mrs. Mary Geraghty, widow of the late Lawrence J. Geraghty, died suddenly this morning at eleven o'clock at the family home, 323 West Eighth street, death being caused from acute dilation of the heart, following acute indigestion.

Mrs. Geraghty was in her usual good health this morning and had finished an ironing, when she was taken suddenly ill, and stricken with the heart trouble. Her death proved quite a shock to the family and her vast number of friends.

She was born October 5, 1854 in Butler county, O., and came to Rushville with her parents, James and Ann Scanlan, in 1859, having resided here since, and she was in her 71st year. She was married April 17, 1871 to Mr. Geraghty, and of the ten children born to the union, eight survive. Mr. Geraghty died in 1917.

DOCTRINE OF HELL NOT VERY POPULAR

Evangelist Thomas Says About Half of Protestant Ministry Does Not Preach it

EVEN IF THEY BELIEVE IT

Strange, He Declares, That Men Will Believe Bible, Yet Deny Such Eternal Truth as Hell

The Rev. Eddie Thomas, the evangelist at the St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal church, preached on "Hell," Tuesday evening and a large audience was in attendance for the meeting. Special music has been provided for the services this week and delegations from Indianapolis, Greensburg and Milroy are planning to attend. The Men's Bible class of the church plans to attend in a body on Friday night and a section of the church has been reserved for them.

In speaking on his subject "Hell" last night the evangelist said in part:

"In these days of skepticism and unbelief the doctrine of Hell has become unpopular. I think I am safe in saying about half of the Protestant ministry do not teach it, even if they believe it. The tendency of the times is to preach to suit the crowd and many in the crowd want a doctrine that will cool the fires of hell and soothe the sinner and twice dead professor."

These are some of the quotations from the bible given by Mr. Thomas: "The Wicked shall be turned into hell," Psalm 9:17; "Let them go down quick into hell," Psalm 55:15; "Her house is the way to hell," Proverbs 7:27; "Hell from beneath is moved for thee," Isaiah 14:9; "In Hell he lifted up his face in torment," Luke 16:23; "The whole body should be cast into hell," Matthew 5:29, 30; "Both Soul and body in hell," Matthew 10:28; "Cast into hell-fire," Matthew 18:9; "How can we escape the damnation of hell," Matthew 23:33.

"But why multiply these texts?" the speaker continued. "One clear text is as good as a thousand. Isn't it strange that men will claim to believe the bible, yet deny such a bulwark of eternal truth, and deny there is a hell. 'The wicked shall be turned into hell and all the nations that forget God' is another reference from Psalm 8:17.

"We must pay the penalty for broken law. When God created the Heavens he placed all their host un-

ANOTHER HUSBAND ASKS FOR LEGAL SEPARATION

Third Divorce Suit in Two Days in Which Wife is Made Defendant in Complaint

WALTER ADAMS, JR., FILES

Another husband has filed suit for divorce from his wife, a complaint being filed this morning in the circuit court by Walter Adams, Jr., by his next friend James Adams against Dorothy Adams, charging that she lived with him only 12 days after their marriage.

The complaint alleges that they were married October 3, 1924 and separated October 15, and during their brief married life, he alleges that she was guilty of associating with other men, and left the city failed to return and live with him. He also charges her with having a high temper, was vulgar and used profane language.

This is the third divorce suit in two days in which the husbands are seeking divorces, and is an unusual turn of affairs, as 80 percent of the divorces are filed by the wives.

Elgar Stiers, as administrators of the estate of John O. Williams, has filed suit against Sylvester McKibben and others, the complaint being on a note and with the demand for $225 judgment.

Further Announcement to be Made At Banquet for Basketball Team Friday Night

TICKETS BEING SOLD TODAY

The public testimonial of the community to the Rushville high school basketball team for going to the state tournament, to be held in the basement of the Main Street Christian church Friday evening, will also be in the interest of the movement under way to erect a new high school gymnasium in Rushville.

It will be recalled that a plan for the financing of a gymnasium was devised a few days ago by a committee appointed to draw up one, and the progress that has been made on it will be announced at the banquet.

High school pupils were to start out this afternoon to sell tickets for the banquet at fifty cents each. On-

San Francisco, Calif., March 25—Fear that Dorothy Ellington, 16 year old matricide, may attempt suicide in a spell of hysterics, a double guard of police women were placed about her today.

"Dorothy is nearing a breakdown," Jail Matron Kennedy said today.

Swine Sanitation Tour of County Proving of Immense Benefit to School Boys

POST MORTEM ARE HELD

Dr. G. N. Wickwire, Federal Veterinarian, Points to Necessity of Cleanliness in Hog Raising

The swine sanitation demonstrations, which started in the county Tuesday, and will continue until Thursday night, are meeting with much success, with excellent cooperation being shown from all teachers. Pupils are learning valuable things in physiology and human sanitation, as well as hog sanitation.

At Raleigh Tuesday, the demonstration was carried on before 85 boys of the high school and grades, with Dr. G. N. Wickwire, U. S. department of animal husbandry, conducting the post mortem part of the demonstration. The teachers, Blythe Seales and Dudley Campbell also assisted. County agent Van Matre and B. D. Farthing, school superintendent, also were present.

Mange was found on the first pig used in the demonstration, and the pupils learned that this causes a condition known as elephant hide, which can be controlled by sanitary steps and dipping the pig in order to kill the parasites. The pig also was found to have round worms in large numbers.

The round worm situation can be handled largely through sanitation means, and it was pointed out to the pupils that in this case sanitation means cleaning the sow, cleaning and disinfecting the pens, and keeping the pigs there for two weeks, and then taking them to a lot that did not have been on it last year.

The round worm will not exist, if these steps are taken, it was disclosed to the pupils. The worm remedies for pigs this spring, were outlined by Dr. Wickwire, who prescribes sanitolin and calomel, 24 grains each in capsule form, or oil of chemonodinium 15 to 20 drops, in half an ounce of raw linseed oil or castor oil for a dose to each pig.

The pigs must be fasted 24 to 30

COUNTY WINS IN ALL 3 DIVISIONS

Glenwood Teams First in High School and Grammar Grade Sections of District Event

MUSIC MEMORY CONTEST HELD

Richland Township Wins in Rural School Division of District Event Without Opposition

Rush county schools won a distinct honor in the district music memory contest held in this city Tuesday afternoon, by taking first place in all three divisions, and with little opposition being shown in the competition.

Glenwood, winners in the county contest in both the grade and high school divisions, easily won first place positions in the district contest, and the Richland township rural school won without any opposition.

The Glenwood high school team turned in a perfect score of 140. The Glenwood grade team won in that division with 133 1/2 points. These two teams, composed of three members each, and also three from Richland, will go to the state contest to be held in Indianapolis Saturday afternoon at Shortridge high school.

In the high school division, Connersville ranked second, Middletown third and Waldron fourth. In the grade division, Brookville was second, Lewisville was third, Liberty was fourth and Waldron fifth.

In the county, medals will be awarded to the team members in all three classes, scoring the best, with gold medals for highest points, silver for second and bronze for third place. The medals for the county contest were provided by the Rushville Kiwanis and Rotary clubs.

The success that the Glenwood school achieved in the district contest is most encouraging and speaks very highly of the music work in this county, which is being done under the direction of Miss Alice Pier-sol, music supervisor for the county schools.

So much further advanced in the grades, that there was little comparison, and a comparison of the grades made in the county contest last week, shows that any one of the teams that was defeated, could have made better grades than any of the opposition teams in the district contest yesterday.

Richland was represented by a team, but they did not take the test, because of no composition. Mr. Banta, in charge of the school work there, has five students all of whom make perfect grades on each test.

though the Wabash was reported falling upstate.

The Ohio river continued to rise, causing the waters of the Wabash to spread further over the lowlands in the territory swept by tornado in the vicinity of Griffin a week ago.

Another slight rise will send the waters pouring over the site of Griffin. Tornado injured marooned in farm houses were being rescued in shifts manned by militia men and Red Cross workers.

No immediate fear was felt for the refugees in Griffin as long as there is an avenue of escape for them over the tracks of the Illinois Central railroad in the event of another rise in the river.

Most of the seriously injured from Griffin had already been taken to hospitals in Evansville or New Harmony.

Farmers living in the lowlands along the Wabash were scurrying with their families to safety on the higher ground today. The hamlets of Hovey and Webb's Ferry, which escaped the direct path of the tornado, were periled by the floods and all the citizens fled.

The town of Eastwood, Ill., just across the river, was also reported under water.

The Wabash and Bowe rivers at the point were they join had reached a breadth of four miles.

Supplies were being taken into Griffin over the railroad bridge, which stands high and is in no danger.

Telephone linemen were raising the one telephone emergency line strung along trees after the tornado to keep it out of the water.

As soon as the flood waters receded work of reconstructing Griffin will be started, it was announced by Marcus Sonntag, chairman of the Evansville Red Cross.

He said the national Red Cross will aid in rehabilitating the town, which will be rebuilt along the plans of the original town.

Sonntag was advised that national headquarters in Washington had appointed a permanent organization to take charge of the work.

At Princeton and other tornado swept towns, the situation improved hourly. Two companies of national guardsmen were relieved from duty at Princeton, their presence no longer being necessary.

Organized Relief Started

St. Louis, Mo., March 25—Organized disaster relief workers today were sweeping into the storm-swept section of Southern Illinois and Indiana, preparing to aid refugees in carrying out relief plans.

Henry E. Baker, national disaster relief worker, said between 75 and 100 of the relief workers would go into southern Illinois and would remain there until reconstruction was well under way. The entire relief program has been turned over to the Red Cross.

As soon as the relief workers arrive here, special rural caravans will tour the agricultural districts, aiding the farmers in rebuilding their homes.

der certain law. The more we study the planetary system, the more we are convinced of the existence of the law under which they are placed; so with the earth, the vegetable, and animal kingdom, from the lowest to the highest.

"The laws of God are just and holy and good, but a law without a penalty would be a nullity. Nature demands full pay for a violated law. The penalty God demands for the violation of his law is death. Death means separation, spiritual death means the soul cut off from union with God. Physical death means separation of soul and body; eternal death, man eternally separated from God.

"It is very beautiful to paint in language, the fatherly love, goodness and mercy of God; but the friend who loves you will tell you of perils as well as beauty and you will thank him all through eternity for telling you the truth. It is the real friend who tells you of danger.

"Who is to blame if you break a law and are punished? The judge or the violator? If we take the Bible we find the story of His love and the story of his severity, and we can judge the future by the past."

He mentioned the flood as one example, also Sodom and Gomorrah. God let Israel through the Red Sea and destroyed Pharaoh's hosts, the speaker pointed out.

"I sometimes think if it were not for the prayers of many righteous men and women God would utterly cut off this generation of gambling,

He concluded his sermon by saying "God is the same today and forever more. The kind of Hell God pictures is one you cannot be happy in. It will be too late sometime, now is the day of salvation."

Guard the Tongue:—Keep thy tongue from evil, and thy lips from speaking guile. Depart from evil, and do good; seek peace, and pursue it. Psalm 34: 13-14.

Prayer: Thou knowest, Lord, that the tongue can—no man tame. Bring our thoughts in accord with thine, and our tongues will speak only wisdom.

A Bad Practice

The basketball season is over, but it is not so far away, that some of its lessons have been forgotten.

No sport ever had such a grip on the people of Indiana as high school basketball, and lovers of the hard-wood game are anxious to see it kept clean so that it will not lose favor.

One of the practices permitted, which may prove harmful, is that of engaging officials who are in the sporting goods business.

It is not fair to the coaches of high school teams, the players, or the officials themselves to allow this sort of thing to go on in high school basketball.

No accusations have ever been made, not even intimations, that any official has permitted his business relations to color his decisions, but it can not be denied that there might be a coach who would patronize a sporting goods house with the idea of winning some favor from a representative of that house, when he was acting as an official in a game.

The temptation to inject harmful practices into the game should be removed. The Indiana High School Athletic association should not sanction officials who sell sporting goods. For the good of basketball, this thing, which might become serious at any time, ought to be dealt with now, before it is too late.

A Service to Farmers

Recent changes in crop estimating and forecasting by the United States department of agriculture will better enable farmers to adjust the supply of farm products to the demand for them.

Forecasts of the production of some crops and livestock are now being made with great enough accuracy, it is claimed by the federal department, to indicate future price trends.

Certainly this is a service that should be welcomed by the farmer and he should not hesitate to make the best use possible of it.

The only hope of the farmer to increase the price he receives for his products is to be guided by the demand in his production. He is attempting to achieve the same end with cooperative marketing, which also seeks to regulate supply in accordance with the demand.

It has been conclusively proved that supply and demand is the thing which governs the price of things produced on the farm, and anything that will aid the farmer in fitting his program in with the demand for what he raises, will be of immense benefit to him.

The Temptation to Speed

The warm spring days and the spring-like atmosphere is bringing out every conceivable kind of automobile.

The temptation to speed is great. Some drivers can't resist it, judging from the way cars have been traveling about Rushville during the past few days.

Boys are fitting up old machines of doubtful qualities and driving them at high rates of speed.

Clearly a word to the wise should be sufficient. If the speedsters persist, the police should not hesitate to make arrests because there is no reason why the lives of pedestrians and sensible drivers of automobiles should be jeopardized.

SAFETY SAM

I reckon there's no tellin' how many ten-thousand-dollar lives have been lost while tryin' t' save ten-cent hats from bein' run over!

Hunt's Washington Letter

BY HARRY B. HUNT
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON — Many thousands of dollars could have been gleaned for Uncle Sam's treasury had provision been made for cashing in on the amusement value of the short special session of the Senate which convened March 4.

All the elements of drama, for which folks pay out hard cash, were supplied on a scale that has been equaled by no theatrical presentation seen in this city in a decade.

Daily, long queues of spectators waited in line at the gallery doors for a chance for even a few minutes of the free entertainment provided within.

Would they have paid for admission? Well—one doorkeeper estimated if he had been able to cash in on the pleas personally made to him to "see what he could do," with the hint it would be worth his while, he could have spent the summer vacation on a Mediterranean cruise!

THE big crush, of course, came on March 16, when the Senate had agreed to vote for a second time on the Warren nomination, which had previously been lost, due to the mid-afternoon nap of Vice President Davis.

The Senate was to meet this morning at 10:30. By 9 a. m. Capitol Hill had much the same appearance as on March 4, when President Coolidge was to be inaugurated. A steady stream of automobiles was discharging excited and interested grand dames and gentlemen. More lowly folk packed the footpaths and overflowed into the streets.

All the Senate elevators were closed, except to members, to prevent possible jams and accidents. Police were on all the stairways.

I MET Senator Willis of Ohio on the gallery floor at 9:20. He was out of breath and his clothing was awry.

Only his old technique as a football player had enabled him, in spite of the right of way he was supposed to have as a senator, to get an influential constituent into the packed gallery.

"Looks as if you're going to have a good audience today, senator," I observed.

Willis wiped a perspiring brow. "All I've done all morning," he said, "is help provide the audience. Eight million people have been in to see me. They all want seats. There wouldn't be half enough if I had 'em all. I'm going into hiding, right now."

THE GARDEN

By OTTIS CRAWFORDI think I am a lucky dog,
Each year in the Spring
When I receive my catalogue,
Displaying and describing everything.I place the book upon the table
And I gaze at it for hours, Always sure I will be able
To raise a lot of flowers.I pick out beans and lettuce
And a fancy kind of beet,
And I'm sure the book will get us,
Most everything we eat.I am full of vim and vigor
In the early days of spring
And I feel a great deal bigger,
When I've planted everything.I intend to raise tomatoes,
Like the pictures in the book
And a lot of nice potatoes
That will satisfy the cook.Some things I aim to plant in rows
And others plant in beds,
While with the use of rake and hoes,
I'll raise some cabbage heads.The flowers will always make me laugh
But onions make me cry,
I've also got to stand the gaff,
From the neighbors passing by.But here's what looks so queer to me
When I've planted all the seeds,
The only thing I ever see,
Is just a patch of weeds.For when the sweat gets on my brow
I know that I will shirk
And think I'll raise a garden anyhow Without doing any work.And in the long hot days of June
Before my muscles harden,
It don't take much to change my tune,
And make me say, "bounfound the garden."The Hodge-Podge

NOBODY LOVES YOU

It is impossible to get anywhere if you are a crab. Nobody loves you. To be successful you must have a kindly, lovable disposition. You can not have this with an unhealthy liver and stomach. They don't go together. Mayr's Wonderful Remedy has given complete and permanent results in thousands of such cases. Our advice to everyone troubled in this way, especially when accompanied with bloating in the stomach, is to try this remedy. It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. Paved Highways

There is not a single community in the United States that does not need a greater mileage of permanently paved roads.

More than 17,000,000 motor vehicles are now using our highways for business and pleasure. They are packing the paved roads in already congested areas, as well as over-running regions until recently considered remote. And they are pounding to pieces all but permanent roads.

Even though a number of states have made good progress in building Concrete Roads, their present permanently improved mileage is entirely inadequate, as every motorist knows.

Meantime, while the building of permanent highways lags, the production of motor vehicles is at the rate of 4,000,000 a year!

Sooner or later this gap must be closed. Why wait?

Not in a long time have general conditions been so favorable for carrying on such public works as permanent highway building; thus assuring tax payers more for their money.

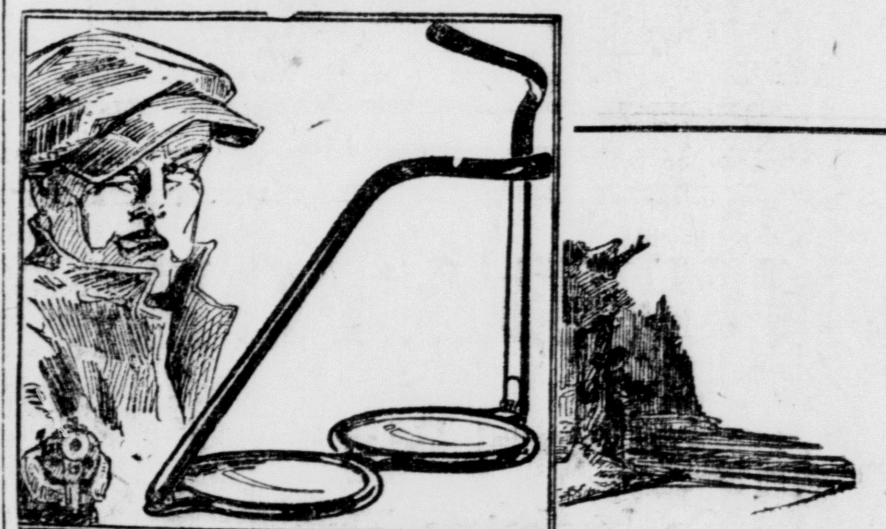

Now is the ideal time to extend both street and road programs!

(United Press Sports Editor)
New York, March 25—Honesty, courage, competence and decision are given as the essentials in a first class referee by William A. Muldoon, senior member of the New York Boxing Commission, while discussing the complaints made about some of the decision given after contests in New York.

"A good referee," he said, "must be able to see, to think and to act simultaneously. Of course, it must be taken for granted that he knows what to do or he shouldn't be in the ring. The most essential thing though is to do something and do it quickly. Nothing will destroy confidence so quickly as indecision."

No one in the boxing game today has had a broader or more varied experience in boxing than William A. Muldoon. Perhaps no one knows the ins and outs and the tricks and traps of the game as intimately as he does. He has been associated intimately with the game for fifty years and in that time the fighting game has been at its worst and at its best, and he believes that the game is in better condition now than it has been previously.

Muldoon is perhaps the finest physical specimen for his years in the United States. He is older than Major Koehler, the physical culture expert at the United States Military Academy, who is said to be the finest built and best preserved soldier in the world. Muldoon has kept his body young and has retained a very youthful mentality by the cleanliness of living. You can't keep a first class brain functioning in a third-class frame.

There have been complaints about some of the decisions that have been given recently in New York. Some blamed decisions that did not meet with their individual approval upon incompetence of the referees and the judges. Others hinted at dishonesty. While it is perhaps a fact that no fallible commission can recruit and maintain a staff of officials that is 100 percent beyond approach, it must be recalled in justice to the New York Commission and its officials, that no one has ever been able to quote the flimsiest bit of evidence that a wrong decision had ever been given deliberately or maliciously by a set of New York officials.

When a contest ends without a marked superiority to the credit of one of the boxers, there always will be a division of opinion. This has been shown time after time by the comment of New York boxing writers on bouts that ended officially in a draw. Of fifteen written opinions by reporters who are supposed to have judgment as competent as that of the officials, five may say that it was a draw, five will say that one boxer was entitled to a shade and five will say that the other boxer won. This percentage may not be accurate in all cases, but it is very seldom that the boxing writers will agree even among themselves.

SHEPHERD'S EFFORT TO GET BAIL TO END TODAY

A DECISION BY TONIGHT

(By United Press)
Chicago, March 25—William D. Shepherd's attempt to be released on bail—already stamped as the greatest feat of its kind in the history of the criminal court—entered its fourth day today.

If the state's attorneys, whose arguments are heard today, do not talk too long, the man who is accused of murdering his millionaire ward, Billy McIntock, will know by night whether he will have his freedom pending the trial or whether he will have to occupy one of the cells in "murder's row" at the county jail.

State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe's indictment expert, Thomas Marshall, opened the state's argument just before court closed yesterday. He was to conclude his speech today and to be followed another assistant prosecutor, George Gorman. Then Crowe himself will close the state's argument that Shepherd should be confined to jail.

Stewart cited other cases similar to Shepherd's as precedent. He pointed to cases in which persons "confessed" themselves to be accomplices in murders and other crimes when it was later proved they had no connection with them. It is Stewart's contention that Dr. Charles C. Faiman's "confession" that he gave Shepherd the typhoid germs with which to murder young McIntock is not sufficient ground to hold Shepherd in custody.

SAYS BICKNELL MAYOR RECEIVED $4 A GALLON

EAGLES AND MOOSE SOLD IT

Indianapolis, Ind., March 25—Damaging testimony was given in federal court today by Harry Pope of Linton, Ind., a government witness in the trial of William Callahan mayor of Bicknell, Otis Turley, chief of police and five others on charges of conspiracy to violate the national prohibition laws.

Pope testified that from twenty five to fifty gallons of moonshine whiskey were made each week on a farm near Bicknell and delivered under the protection of Mayor Callahan to the Moose and Eagles' lodge rooms of Bicknell.

Mayor Callahan received $4 on each gallon, Pope testified. At one time I slipped $300 into the mayor's pocket, while they were together in the restaurant in Bicknell, Pope said.

Sam Lynn, custodian of the Moose lodge testified that liquor was delivered directly to members of the house committee and was sold at the lodge rooms.

hours before giving the worm medicine. This condition was true in all the pigs examined in the six demonstrations Tuesday. In one pig examined at Center, it was found also to contain throne-head whip worms and round worms, this being all the intestinal parasites that hogs can have.

and seal of the five states visited by the storm either made or had made a preliminary investigation to determine first-hand the extent of the loss of life and damage to property.

Mr. Trabue will have this information as the basis for his investigation as he expected to get in touch with all of the state lodge organizations before starting his tour. The supreme lodge representative expected to go into the heart of the Illinois cyclone area first, and from there to Missouri to get an idea of the extent of the damage. He will then return to Indianapolis and go through the storm district of southern Indiana, Kentucky and Tennessee.

The preliminary appropriation for the relief work came from a supreme lodge emergency fund and future expenditures will be from a tornado relief fund that is being raised by the supreme lodge.

An appeal has gone out from the supreme chancellor to the grand chancellors of all the grand domains or states, of the United States, and the grand chancellors in turn have made the appeal to the subordinate lodes, which may raise the money by volunteer gifts or appropriate the money from the lodge treasurer, as they see fit.

General Trabue explained that this was the custom of the supreme lodge, always to act in cases of national emergency and disaster. He recalled two outstanding pieces of relief work by the supreme lodge—the California earthquake and the 1913 flood in the middlewest.

There is another instance on record where a mine disaster in the west almost entirely wiped out a Knights of Pythias lodge. The supreme lodge aided the families and re-established the lodge.

—to regain Strength

—brings joy to you and your friends.

EVERY man, woman and child wants to have strength and correct weight. It means the joy of living. To be minus strength and underweight often proves low fighting power in the body. It often means you are minus nerve-power, minus red cells in your blood, minus health, minus vitality. It is serious to be minus, but the moment you increase the number of your red-blood-cells, you begin to become plus. That's why S.S.S., since 1826, has meant to thousands of underweight men and women a plus in their strength. Your body fills to the point of power, your flesh becomes firmer, the age lines that come from thinness disappear. You look younger, firmer, happier, and you feel it, too, all over your body.

More red-blood-cells! S.S.S. aids Nature in building them by the million! There are no unproven theories about S.S.S., the scientific results of each of its purely vegetable medicinal ingredients are admitted by authorities. Begin taking S.S.S. today. It will give you more energy, vitality and vigor and a more up and going appearance.

S.S.S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

NEW VACANCIES EXPECTED SOON

Cabinet Will Undergo Further Changes During the Summer, According to Official Reports

FOUR MEMBERS MAY RESIGN

In the List are Mentioned Secretaries Weeks, Work and Davis and Also Harry New

By WILLIAM J. LOSH.
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)

Washington March 25—The cabinet will undergo further re-organization, during the summer with the probable retirement of four officers, according to reports in official quarters today.

Secretaries Weeks, Work, Davis and Postmaster General New are said to be those who contemplate stepping out. The first three wanted to return to private life months ago but were prevailed upon to remain in the new administration.

The reasons for remaining were political and no longer have the same force. The gradual withdrawal of the trio, all of whom were appointed by President Harding is looked for. New, also a Harding appointee, may be shifted to one of the vacancies or may retire.

With these changes, President Coolidge would be able to reconstruct a cabinet of his own choice, with the exception of Secretaries Mellon and Hoover. These two, however, are not expected to remain in office for more than two years longer, hence the prospect is, that before the president's term is over he will have a complete "Coolidge cabinet".

Weeks wanted to retire last year but stayed on at the request of the president's friends who feared his withdrawal during the campaign would be misconstrued.

Since the sudden death of his wife last fall, Secretary Work has wanted to return to private life. The fact that he is now engaged in highly important work as chairman of the president's oil conservation board, however is expected to keep him in the cabinet until that work is completed.

Secretary of Labor Davis handed his resignation to the president after election last November and was ready to devote all his time to his fraternal activities, but he also was prevailed upon to stay. Davis now is said to have ambitions to run for the governorship of Pennsylvania.

New is said to want to retire in July. There is a chance, however, that he may be offered the war portfolio.

Bathing Girls Coming

Bathing girls from various western motion picture studios will personally appear at the Princess theatre Thursday. The star of this spectacular Hollywood Revue is Miss Donna Darling who has won many beauty prizes in New York City, Boston and Philadelphia. She was the creator of the principal feminine part of "Chin-Chin," the late musical comedy success. Miss Darling is known as the girl with a million-dollar personality; she entrances her audience from her entrance on the stage until the final curtain drops.

The revue opens with a prologue which is followed by a display of 1860 bathing suits. The 1900 bathers supply comedy, which is followed by the modern bathers. Bathing costumes are shown from various beaches of this and other countries. These costumes become more elaborate as the revue advances, closing with Miss Darling as she appears in a rhinestone bathing suit.

The entire entertainment is fast, clean and enjoyable. The scenic and lighting effects are unusual.

"Janice Meredith," Princess

"Janice Meredith" which comes to the Castle theatre today for two days, has so much beauty and romance in it, and so much glory and amazing land-that-never-was charm in it, that even a hardened reviewer is overcome by the sheer magnificence of this picture.

No one who, secretly, would like to take a trip to the moon, or who, much more to the point, would like to have the Revolutionary War done over again for his own delectation—the war being just a multicolored background for a heart-stirring love affair between the most beautiful girl in the world and a man whom she at least, didn't think was the homeliest of his gender—can afford not to see "Janice Meredith," and Marion Davies, who is the astonishingly beautiful star of it.

There's the Boston Tea Party, the Ride of Paul Revere, the Battle of Lexington, the Battle of Trenton, Washington crossing the Delaware, Benjamin Franklin at the Court of Versailles, and a spectacular scene after spectacular scene, until one begins to wonder whether all the spectacular scenes available hadn't been roped and tied, and put into this one film.

But historical events, no matter how faithfully and lavishly and brilliantly done, probably never can vie on the screen with the charmingly delineated love affair of a dashing debonair lad, and a beautiful, capricious and utterly desirable maid.

It's the love between Janice, who is Marion Davies, and Charles Fownes, who is Harrison Ford, that hits you right where most persons live and breathe.

"Her Marriage Vow,"

The marriage question comes in for a lot of overhauling in the attraction at the Princess theatre today and Thursday. This is no less than a screen version of Owen Davis' well known play, "Her Marriage Vow."

Rush County Women Work on Clothing Project

ACHIEVEMENT DAY PROGRAM GIVEN

Union County Women Have Fitting Climax for the Home Project Work They Have Taken

Same Clothing Project is Being Given in This County For First Time This Year

The climax for the home project work in Union Co. was the Achievement Day program put on by the women who had taken the clothing project under the leadership of Miss Meta Martin of Purdue University. At this meeting silk and woolen dresses, coats and other garments were on display.

Reports show that during the past year 115 adult dresses and coats, 134 children's dresses and coats, 101 undergarments, and 56 made-over garments have been constructed by women taking this work. These garments show also that they have saved $535.00 on garments made from old materials and $385.00 on new goods made up at home.

The instructions for this work was given by Miss Martin to the project leaders, who in turn went back to their townships and gave the same information to local groups. In this way 39 meetings were held, reaching 271 women.

Two demonstrations were given at the Achievements Day meeting by Miss Martin, one on the use of colors and another on the seamless dress. A series of short plays were also staged by local women. Seventy-five people partook of the dinner and over 250 were present for the afternoon session.

This same clothing project is being given in Rush county for the first time this year by Mrs. Helen McKinley. Eleven of the twelve townships were represented at a

RUSH CO. PIG MANAGEMENT RULES

Life History of Round Worm

1. Round worms' eggs are eaten (or swallowed) by young pigs.
2. The eggs hatch in the bowels.
3. The little worms microscopic in size get in to the blood stream.
4. These little worms first go to the liver in their life history.
5. Then to the heart and lungs they stay in the lungs and grow to be 1/2 an inch long.
6. They then crawl up or are coughed up into the back part of the mouth and are swallowed into the intestines where they grow to be 10 or 12 inches long in 6 weeks to 2 months.

The rules suggested to avoid the round worm are as follows:

1. Clean out all straw and manure in farrowing pens prior to farrowing season.
2. Wash farrowing pens thoroughly with hot water and lye. Using about 1/2 can of lye to every 35 to 40 gallons of water.
3. Scrub off the brood sows under with warm water and soap before putting them into clean farrowing pens.
4. Keep sows and pigs out of old hog lots and pastures from farrowing to weaning time.

Dr. G. N. Wickwire suggests that if these 4 suggestions are outlined under Rush County's Pig Management Rules are followed out, shoats will not have round worms and be stunted, but leaders' school, conducted by Mrs. McKinley March 11.

At this school, Mrs. McKinley gave instructions and outlined meetings for March and April. She will return early in May and conduct a similar school.

will thrive and grow rapidly. This method is called the Rush County System of Pig Management.

HUNTINGTON FARMERS TAKE INVENTORIES

Purdue Representative Discussed Value of Inventories to Increase Efficiency

NINE BANKS COOPERATED

Ten farms in Huntington County recently served as meeting places where farmers considered methods of taking simple inventories of livestock, feed, supplies, machinery and real estate; and the usefulness of these inventories after they were taken.

A representative of the Agricultural Extension Division of Purdue University discussed the value of inventories as one of the first steps in studying the farm business to increase its efficiency, methods of valuation at "farm" prices or a fair sale price on the farm, and methods of figuring depreciation on equipment and improvements. Except where weather conditions made it impossible an inspection was then made of the cribs, bins, silo, etc., and the amounts of products on the farm calculated from the number of cubic feet of space occupied.

The attendance at these inventory "schools" ranged from six to 35. With few exceptions that farmers present agreed to take an inventory on their own farms, using the Indiana Farm Record Book prepared by Purdue University as a blank form for entering the inventory. Nine banks in Huntington County cooperated in purchasing a supply of these books for farmers who were willing to use them. Many farmers planned also to keep a record in this book of their farm receipts and expenses during the year.

MEMBERSHIP MAY REACH 10,000 MARK

Wheat Growers' Association Has Ten Counties, Including Rush, to Boost 300 Membership

Association Has Been Re-Incorporated Under New Indiana Co-operative Marketing Law

Indianapolis, Ind., March 25—Membership in the Indiana Wheat Growers' Association, which reached a net total last year of 6,872, is expected to pass the 10,000 mark within the next ten days, according to an announcement the first of this week. While the association had only one county last year with a membership of 300, ten counties now boast that number or more. These counties are, in the order of their standing, DuBois, Wayne, Knox, Parke, Vigo, Rush, Clinton, Gibson, Johnson and Ripley. Several others are close to the 300 mark and are expected to go over at an early date.

The annual election of directors of the association is now under way. Voting is being done by mail and the heavy return of ballots from each district indicates keen interest in the operation of the wheat pool. New storage facilities are being erected by elevator interests and a number of country mills also are arranging to handle pooled wheat under the conditions imposed by the U. S. warehouse act. The association has investigated very carefully a number of leading devices for use at points where there are no elevators or elevators refuse to handle pooled wheat. The purchasing department of the Indiana Farm Bureau will handle one of these devices, as state agent, and several of these machines already have been placed.

A review of the recent legislative session reveals that a number of measures of interest to farmers were enacted. These included the co-operative marketing bill; a bill providing for the tuberculin testing of cattle; for the establishment of a crop and livestock statistics department at Purdue; the filled milk bill; the revaluation of real estate; increased tax on gasoline; regulation of the sale of unpasteurized milk; and state income tax. The oleo bill, which passed both houses after a spirited

CORN TO BE DISTRIBUTED TO BOY'S CLUB APRIL 8

Members of Club, Their Fathers, Township Club Leaders and County Committee to be Guests

BOOSTER CLUB TO BE HOST

The corn purchased by the Rushville Boosters club for the Rush County Boys' club will be distributed on Wednesday evening, April 8, at 7:30 o'clock at the Social club rooms.

Fathers of the 125 boys who have joined the club, and the boys, together with the township club leaders and the county committee of five having general direction of the club, will be guests of the Boosters club at the meeting, and refreshments will be served.

One leader in each township was responsible for the selection of the boys competing in the club and the general committee of five drew up the rules and will have general oversight of the contest. This committee of five is composed of Clyde Arcey of Anderson township, Will Logan of Noble, Newton Halterman of Rushville, John Hufferd of Posey and Carl King of Washington.

Each boy will receive fifteen pounds of the championship yellow corn grown by Argus Wagoner of Orange township, who won the yellow corn sweepstakes at the state corn show this year, and will be expected to return 60 ears of what he raises from his patch so that it may be given out as seed for next year's club.

PLANNING THE HOUSE CLEANING

By KATHRYNE L. McMAHON
Purdue University Home Economics Department

Planning The House Cleaning

The house cleaning should be so planned that the housewife may carry on the business of her home without an interference.

The attic and basement should be the first to come on the cleaning list. Everything in the attic should be well aired, cleaned and brushed. This should be done before it is hot, for it is much easier to work up near the roof in cool weather. After things are well aired and sunned, they should be put back in boxes or closets in wax paper. If it is material that moths will attack place camphor naphthalene, cedar and tar in the boxes. These preparations will not keep the eggs and larvae left in woolen materials from developing if they are left on open shelves or in loosely constructed containers. Fumigation by carbon disulphide is an excellent method of immediately killing moths in clothing stored in tight containers. The basement may be damp and therefore requires special care, both because things stored in it may spoil and because the quality of the air in it affects that all over the house. Plenty of lime should be used to absorb the moisture. Unplastered walls should be white washed at this time as they reflect light and whitewash is a germicide. Old papers and magazines should not be left around because they absorb moisture. The floor should be scrubbed with soap and water, then dried by having the air blow across it. Cupboards and shelves should also be cleaned and straightened.

The closets are next in order: clothes should be taken out, cleaned, brushed and aired. The heavy woolens should be put away using the

SCORE CARD IS USED TO ANALYZE FARM BUSINESS

PLAN ADVANCED BY PURDUE

A farm management score card was used as a basis for White County farmers to study their own farming operations at a two-day farm management school held at Burnettsville recently by Lynn Robertson, Farm Management Demonstrator of Purdue University. This is as far as known, the first school in the United States at which farmers have analyzed their businesses by means of a score card. The score card used was one recently prepared by the Extension Department of Purdue University and such items as crop rotation, kind and amount of livestock volume of business, farm layout, farm improvements and equipment, and farm accounts are among the important subjects included. As these subjects were discussed each farmer scored his own business according to how well he measured up to the standards given.

Those attending the school showed great interest in this new method of analyzing the farm business and finding weaknesses which if corrected will likely increase the efficiency of their farming. All of them obtained farm record books from Purdue University in which to keep accounts during the coming year.

SMUT TREATMENT SIMPLE FOR OATS

Is Not Much of a Job for Farmers, as 15 Minutes is Enough to Treat 50 Bushels

FORMALDEHYDE SOLUTION

Is Sprinkled Lightly on the Oats as They Are Being Shoveled in the Farm Wagon

Oat smut treatment is not as much of a job as many farmers think. Two years ago, a farmer in Hancock county treated ninety bushels of seed in less than a half hour. Around Lafayette the farmers lightly sprinkle the oats with the formaldehyde solution as they are being shoveled into a wagon box. When the oats are all loaded it is only necessary to cover the load with sacks or blankets for a few hours or it can be left until next morning. In this case the oats are broadcasted but the same method can be used by other farmers even though they do not broadcast. The farmer need not wait till it is time to sow his oat before treating them. However, if treatment is done at sowing time, all that is needed is fifteen minutes at night to treat enough seed for next day's work. This seed can be immediately sacked or left in the pile and covered but if the oats will not be sown for several days it is always best to open the pile and allow the gas to escape before sacking them.

The treatment can be done in either of two ways, by mixing one pint of formaldehyde with one pint of water and spraying it on the oats; or by mixing the pint of formaldehyde with 5 gallons of water and applying it with a sprinkling can. The spraying method is effective. Continued on Page Two

SHEEP GROWERS IN GOLD MEDAL CLUB

Fifty-One Sheeplemen in 26 Indiana Counties Entered in Hoosier Project This Season

RUSH COUNTY IN THE LIST

Several of the Leading Counties in the Corn Belt Compete For the Big Honors

Lafayette, Ind., March 24—Fifty-one sheep growers in 26 Indiana counties are enrolled in the Hoosier Gold Medal Sheep Club this year according to report today of the Agricultural Extension Department of Purdue University. This is the largest enrollment the club has had during its three years of existence. One-half the members this year have been enrolled in one or more of the preceding years.

Jefferson county situated in the southeastern portion of the state with 11 members has the largest enrollment. This is one of the few hilly sections of the state where the sheep business is prosperous and on the increase. This is due to the fact that spring lamb production on farms here is getting a foothold and is helping bring prosperity. Sheep have followed alfalfa in Jefferson county. In other hilly sections where no legumes are grown sheep production is perhaps on the decline.

Montgomery county in the heart of Indiana's corn belt has the second largest enrollment with eight. This was the first county in the state to take up sheep improvement work starting a program seven years ago. This improvement plan has included tours, production demonstrations, boys and girls clubs and enrollment in the Gold Medal Sheep Club.

tive but is more work than the second method. Both are "dry methods". One pint of formaldehyde will kill the smut in 40 to 50 bushels and the amount of water added makes no difference. Dr. C. T. Gregory of the botany department of Purdue University has found. It is only added for the sake of convenience, when 5 gallons is mixed with one pint of formaldehyde there is a large enough volume that the solution can be applied with a sprinkling pot. One sprinkle to each two shovels full of oats will distribute the solution throughout the pile. In two hours the water will all be absorbed leaving the oats as dry as in the beginning.

SHADE TREE HINTS GIVEN BY PURDUE

Many thousand of newly set shade trees die every year not because they were not good trees to start but because they were not handled properly when planted said, C. L. Burkholder of the Purdue University Horticultural staff recently.

If the soil is poor and gravelly it is a good plan to dig a hole about twice as large as needed to accommodate the root system and fill in around the roots with good garden soil. Set the tree two to three inches deeper than it stood in the nursery row. Never put manure in around the roots of the tree. After planting, however, a heavy application of manure should be spaded into the ground around the tree in a circle five feet in diameter. Follow this up with a layer of manure three or four inches deep over the spaded area. This treatment will insure plenty of food for maximum growth as well as hold a good supply of moisture about the roots of the tree.

After planting, whether in the fall or in the spring, wrap each tree from the ground up to the first limb with burlap sacks or heavy paper. Leave this wrap on for at least two seasons. This prevents sun scald on the bodies of the trees which is invariably followed by an attack of flat head borers.

A full discussion of varieties and pruning of young shade trees is included in Purdue Bulletin 119 which will be sent free of charge to anyone writing the Purdue University Agricultural Extension Department. Bulletin 98 on the "Planting and Care of Shrubbery" is also available for distribution at this time.

FLOWERING SHRUBS FOR HOME GROUNDS

A home grounds is not complete without proper plantings of trees, shrubs and flowers. The first requirements of a well arranged home grounds are a good lawn and attractive natural arrangements of hardwood trees.

These two important features should have a back ground of flowering shrubs massed in groups about the foundation of the house, along the borders of the yard and about the entrance to the grounds. If one is able to employ a professional landscape gardener this is no doubt the best way to procure the best planting plans. If this is impossible Purdue Bulletin 98 gives many worthwhile suggestions which can be followed by anyone even though they have very little personal knowledge of varieties of shrubs. Many small detail planting groups are illustrated in this bulletin which will work in nicely about the foundation of the average house. Other groups are made up of higher growing shrubs for screen and border plantings and for most plantings about the entrance of drives and walks. This bulletin may be obtained free of charge by writing the Purdue University Agricultural Extension Department, Lafayette, Indiana. Leaflet 41 on the "Care of the Lawn" and Bulletin 119 on the "Planting and Care of Shade Trees" are also available for distribution.

SHORT CUTS IN MEALS

SHORT CUTS IN MEALS

Now that the spring housecleaning days are near every housewife wants to find as many short cuts as possible in the daily routine of housekeeping, and especially in the preparation of three meals a day. She is tired and worn out after the semi-annual routing of elusive dust and during those days she is grateful for any suggestion that will combine two and even three dishes into one, thus saving time, energy, fuel and disposition.

The use of the various cookers as the fireless, pressure and waterless, also are time savers, as whole meals may be cooked at one time, in any one of the three.

Scalloped Tomatoes With Ham

Drain juice from one can tomatoes. Grease baking dish, and cover bottom with tomatoes, dot with butter, dredge with pepper and salt, sprinkle with bread crumbs, chopped onion and ham cut in small pieces, arrange another layer of tomatoes, then crumbs, ham and onion, and proceed until dish is filled. Pour over all enough of the tomato juice to flour and blend well; add milk and stir until smooth; add salt, paprika, peppers chopped and cheese; mix with potatoes and turn into greased baking dish, cover with buttered crumbs, and bake 15 minutes or until brown.

Cook onion in bacon fat, add moisture well, and then finish dish with covering of crumbs, dotted with butter. Bake 20 to 30 minutes in moderate oven.

Scalloped Potatoes With Cheese

1 quart cooked potatoes sliced, 1 onion chopped, 2 tbsp. bacon fat, 4 tsp. flour, 1 c. grated cheese, 2 c. hot milk, 1 tsp. salt, 1 tsp. paprika, 2 canned red peppers, 1 c. buttered crumbs.

Instead of adding the cheese, make a medium white sauce with the milk and mix left over meat in the sauce. Then add to other ingredients.

Italian Macaroni

2 cups macaroni, 1 tbsp. salt, 4 tsp. bacon fat, 4 tbsp. flour, 1 c. chopped peppers, 2-3 c. chopped onion, 1 qt. tomatoes strained, 1 lb. cheese if desired.

Cook macaroni in boiling salted water until soft. Drain in colander, pour over it cold water to prevent pieces adhering. Cook onion and pepper in bacon fat until soft, but not brown. Add flour, stir until smooth, add hot tomato, and stir until it boils. Add salt and macaroni, reheat over hot water to prevent burning, and serve at once.

Meat may also be added if desired.

Kidney Bean Stew

1 small can kidney beans, 1 onion, 1 qt. tomatoes, 1 tbsp. butter salt and pepper to taste, 1 c. rice, 2 small potatoes.

Chop onion, dice potatoes and add other ingredients. Cook until done. Water may be added if necessary.

Planning The Housecleaning

pty. Wash them out with warm water and use some disinfect. When cleaning the linen closet, a list of linen should be made out in order to check upon the supply. The linen not used every day should be wrapped in tissue paper. Blue paper is best as it prevents linen turning yellow.

Drawers may be cleaned on a rainy day. Everything should be taken out. The drawers dusted with a damp cloth and clean paper put in them.

If any furniture is to be refinished it should be done early so that it will be well dried when the entire house is finished. The curtains and linens can be done at sometime when the family washing is not very large. After these things are done you are then ready for the general house cleaning.

RAILROAD OFFERS TWO SCHOLARSHIPS

To be Given to Youths Who Win
Prizes at Annual Purdue Egg Show, May 5-9

MARKS NEW COOPERATION

Indicative of Interest Railroads Have in Agricultural Development in Country

A ten dollar scholarship in a county agricultural contest, won by an Indiana youth years ago took him on a visit to an agricultural "short course" at Purdue University. He liked the place and the place liked him; he did good work and the University wanted good work. His friends back home had confidence in him,—they urged him to go back to the University and take the four years' course in Agriculture. He did. That youth J. H. Skinner is now Dean of Agriculture in his Alma Mater.

And now in 1925 the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad comes with an offer of two $100.00 scholarships, to be given, not to young men who have ideas about automatic couplers or air brakes or mechanical stokers, but to two Indiana high school youths who win prizes at the annual Purdue Egg Show, Lafayette, Indiana to be held May 5-9.

This offer of the B. & O. is very unusual, but is interestingly indicative of the interest the railroads have in Agricultural development in the county they serve. They are interested in producing more eggs, in the going of young men to college, and in the consequent producing of still more and better eggs. The offer of the railroad marks co-operation of a new, promising and mutually profitable sort between the Purdue Egg Show and the Railroad.

The scholarships will be good in the School of Agriculture in Purdue University, providing the winner is fitted to meet the entrance requirements. One is to be offered any high school student in the counties of northern Indiana served by one line of the railroad, and another for southern Indiana served by another line. The scholarships will be available next fall.

The Purdue Egg show is the pioneer of its kind in the country. It was started in 1908 by students of agriculture who put the management of the show—at that time small and unpretentious—into the hands of freshmen students. The show has grown ever since, until it is now the largest as well as the oldest in the country. Its management is still in the hands of freshmen, who gain from the conduct of the show not only a useful knowledge of eggs and egg values, but also an equally useful experience in an administration. Last year there were exhibited 900 dozens of eggs from all parts of the United States and steps are being taken this year to obtain exhibits from foreign countries, and already inquiries have been received from Holland and England asking for the date of the show and information concerning it. It is the aim of the committee in charge this year to include in the exhibit eggs of all kinds from all parts of the country, and indications are that the number of eggs entered this year will surpass even the record entry of 1924.

900 FARMERS AT BETTER BULL DAY

Fulton County Jersey Cattle Club Put on Special Day Exercises on March 11

SPECIAL EVENTS ON PROGRAM

Dairymen are Given Valuable Jersey Bull and See Scrub Sentenced to Death

Rochester, Ind., March 25—Approximately 900 farmers attended Better Bull day exercises which were held here March 11, in co-operation with the Fulton County Jersey Cattle Club. Young Men's Business Association Agricultural Department of the Erie Railroad and Agricultural Extension Department of Purdue University. The program which occupied most of the afternoon was held in the Community building and local banks and some of the business houses closed during the exercises.

One of the big events of the program was the presentation of a registered Jersey bull, valued at $700, to the Jersey club from the farm of President Underwood of the Erie railroad. The bull was given here because of the splendid interest shown last fall when a "better bull" train was operated through the county by the Erie in co-operation with Purdue. The presentation was made by Col. F. G. Robbins, vice-president of the railroad, and the formal acceptance was made by R. S. Landin, county agent. The sire will be kept by one of the club members for the service of all those in the Jersey club. With a record of 753 pounds of butterfat, average, for his five nearest dams, the bulls is expected to accomplish considerable in the improvement of local herds.

Another feature was the trial of a scrub bull and its subsequent sentence to be shot for committing most of the crimes on a court calendar. Local farmers constituted the jury and Judge Carr of the Circuit Court occupied the bench. The local prosecutor handled the case against the bull and another local lawyer acted as the defendant's attorney, making an eloquent plea for his life. However the bull was sentenced and the "funeral" conducted on the stage, with local business men as pall bearers and some of the farmers as mourners. W. H. Senour, Brookville banker and dairy farmer "preached" the funeral oration.

HEMLOCK SPROUTS CAUSE OF ILLNESS

Stock of Any Kind That Takes Sick in Early Spring, May be Caused
From the Water Disease

APPEAR IN LAST OF MARCH

Young Sprouts of Water Hemlock, Very Small in Size, is Sufficient to do Much Injury

When cattle, sheep or horses exhibit symptoms of poisoning during the early spring after grazing on land containing a stream or other moist places, the trouble may be due to water hemlock sprout poisoning, according to A. A. Hansen of the Purdue University Agricultural Extension staff.

The young sprouts of water hemlock usually appear during late March before the grass has gotten a good start and experiments have demonstrated that from three to eight ounces of the young tops will kill a sheep. Later when the leaves expand the tops apparently lose their poisonous properties. The tender young sprouts, which are readily grazed by sheep and other animals, can be identified by digging into the ground for the tuberous roots, which somewhat resemble a cluster of small sweet potatoes.

The usual symptoms of water hemlock poisoning are muscular twitching followed shortly by intermittent convulsions accompanied by grating of the teeth and violent suffering. Death ordinarily results within a few hours, preceded in some cases by a period of quiet. On account of the rapid action of the poison, little can be done to save affected animals. On Indiana farms where stock is lost after exhibiting the symptoms described, it is best to keep grazing animals off the pasture containing wet places until the grass has gotten a good start. Later when the water hemlock flowers, the roots should be grubbed out and destroyed. The poison is confined to the roots and young shoots.

recognize its quality

A WORKMAN can recognize Carey roofing after the wrapper from the roll is thrown away.

Compared with roll goods of equal weight, there is a toughness that distinguishes the Carey product.

It is the quality in the felt that not only makes it tougher, but causes it to absorb more asphalt saturant.

To insure superior felt, rags are sorted right in the Carey plant, and all felt used in Carey roofing is made according to Carey tested specifications in the Carey factory.

It is only natural that this tougher, better saturated roofing should give the longer service for which it is famous.

Crop Estimating by U. S. Department of Agriculture Will Serve Big Help to All Farmers

WILL REGULATE THE SUPPLY

Ups and Downs in Production and Prices Will be Remedied and Orderly Marketing Planned

Great improvements in the adjustment of the supply of farm products to the demand are made possible as a result of recent innovations in crop estimating and forecasting by the United States Department of Agriculture. Forecasts of the production of some crops and livestock have attained enough accuracy to indicate future price trends. Farmers can use such forecasts in planning their planting and breeding operations. In this way ups and downs, both in production and prices can be made less extreme and orderly marketing is facilitated. Indeed, some regulation of production is almost a prerequisite of orderly marketing. When efficiency in seed selection, soil culture and crop rotation is supplemented by an intelligent adjustment of production to probable market demands, farming is much more likely to show a profit than when crop and livestock enterprises are undertaken regardless of indicated price trends and supply conditions.

Crop and livestock reporting by the department now covers 74 crops and all classes of livestock. Its value is universally recognized. Official crop statistics protect the farmer by lessening the effect of misleading private reports. They help to stabilize prices and reduce speculative margins by furnishing increased certainty as to supplies. They aid in financing crop movements, and in facilitating transportation and distribution. Important as this service is, however, it is overshadowed in promise of direct benefit to the farmer by some of the newer activities of the department, particularly its efforts to help in adjusting agricultural production to the probable demand.

These newer activities include surveys of livestock and field crop production plans and production prospects. Twice a year, on June 1 and December 1, the department makes a pig survey, as a result of which it forecasts the number of hogs that will be marketed the following autumn and winter. The forecasts, which were started three years ago, have been very close to the actual receipts at the principal markets. Farmers have profited from the advance knowledge thus given. An example of benefit to the farmers from the pig survey was furnished two years ago, when the survey showed farmers intended to breed an increase of 49 percent in the number of sows for fall litters. Warnings were sent out and the actual increase was only about 25 percent.

The pig surveys have tended to stabilize hog prices. Hog production in 1923 and 1924, as a result of bumper corn crops, was the largest ever known. This development was forecast by the department. Farmers accordingly reduced their breeding operations so that the tendency to overproduction was somewhat checked, and packers stored less pork than usual so that in the period of heaviest marketings prices had not to sustain the additional weight of large accumulated supplies. The result was lessened price fluctuation. In other words, the forecast of overproduction enabled farmers and packers to deal intelligently with the problem that the large supply created.

Another illustration of the practical value of the Government's forecasts of forthcoming hog supplies has been furnished in the last few months. A pig survey made last June indicated the farmers were probably going too far in their efforts to correct the condition brought about by the previous period of large production. They were curtailing their breeding operations too much. In consequence a heavy reduction in hog production was forecast, and the prediction was made that the price of hogs would probably go to $14 a hundred pounds this summer. This prediction has already been fulfilled, in spite of the fact that the winter saw record marketing of hogs. The forecast of a shortage was so confidently relied on that prices advanced notwithstanding runs of hogs far in excess of current consumption needs.

Bloomington—Fifty-five members of the Free Methodist church here have promised their pastor to read the Bible through before the end of the year.

POULTRY NOTES

How to Get 60 to 75 Cents for Eggs

March and April hatched chicks properly cared for will bring profitable returns from broilers as well as high priced eggs in October, November and December. Correct summer and fall management of the pullets will make a fall molt unlikely.

Proper Care of Eggs

To insure good fertility one male is necessary to every 15 to 20 hens of the dual purpose breeds, and one male to every 15 to 25 hens of the egg breeds. Better fertility will be obtained with the fowls out on free range. Gathering the eggs to be set several times a day will prevent their chilling. A larger percentage of these eggs will hatch if not held over seven to ten days. An ideal temperature at which to hold these eggs before incubation is 50 to 60 degrees.

Eggs for hatching should weigh 24 to 28 ounces to the dozen, should be uniform in shape and color, and with good, strong smooth shell texture. Extremely large or porous shell eggs will not hatch well.

Custom Hatching Buying Chicks

Many farmers who have been hatching with hens or small incubators will find it to their advantage to take their eggs to a reliable hatchery to have them hatched or else buy baby chicks. This will enable them to hatch earlier and get chicks of one age, an advantage in growing chicks.

Save This Year's Chicks.—By

1. Hatching only from mature, selected, blood tested males and females.

2. Brooding chicks with a hard coal stove in a portable brooder house on new disease free soil.

3. Reducing brooder temperature from 100 degrees (at edge or hover) after the first week as rapidly as the comfort of chicks permits.

4. Getting chicks out on the ground when a week old even though weather is chilly.

5. Giving nothing to drink but skim milk, buttermilk or semi-solid for at least the first month.

6. Giving no feed or drink till chicks are 48 hours old. For the first few days it is safest to feed only the finely cracked chick grains suggested in Purdue Leaflet No. 72, giving only what is cleaned up in about 20 minutes.

7. Giving no mash the first five days. After this start gradually on mash as suggested in Leaflet 72, always preceding the mash with a grain feed to prevent over feeding on the mash.

8. Placing chicks on full mash feed after the second week and reducing at same time grain feeds to only two or three times per day.

9. Writing for Purdue Extension Leaflet 71, 72, 73, 128, and Extension Bulletins 52, 101, and 123. H. W. Fitting, Division of Poultry Husbandry.

DODDER IS BAD IN CLOVER SEED

When buying clover seed, one of the principal impurities to be on the lookout for is dodder. Dodder trouble is on the increase in Indiana, a statement verified by a study of the official analyses of samples of clover seed gathered in all parts of the state last season and analyzed at Purdue. Of 531 samples, 110 contained dodder while 33 of 111 samples of alfalfa seed were contaminated with the pest.

Inquiry regarding the dodder situation was recently made by A. A. Hansen of the Purdue University Agricultural extension staff among a number of Indiana's leading seed houses and practically all seedsmen agree that the problem is becoming serious. A firm in Evansville states that "75 percent of the seed which has been offered this season (1924) contains dodder. This section is foul with dodder." A Ligonier seed house says "we do not buy any domestic seed unless it is absolutely free from dodder," while a wholesale seed house at Carmel agrees that "dodder is a serious menace to the Indiana farmer." From a large Crawfordsville seed company comes that statement that "we consider dodder at this time to be the most serious weed we have to contend with."

Last year a number of Indiana farmers contaminated their land with dodder. For instance, County Agent, R. N. Thomas of Jefferson County states that last season "several farmers in Jefferson County had this pest for the first time." The Indiana seed law requires that the number of dodder seeds per pound contained in all clover and alfalfa seed sold in Indiana in quantities of one pound or more must be stated on the back of the label. Farmers who buy clover seed are urged to carefully examine the label before purchasing and if dodder is present the seed should be refused, particularly if the pest is not already on the farm.

PUTTING NEW LIFE IN THE LAWN

By C. L. BURKHOLDER

Purdue University Horticultural Department

Putting New Life in The Lawn

Nothing adds more to the attractive appearance of a home grounds than a thick thrifty luxuriant lawn. Grass plants, however, require food with which to grow and combat the pestiferous lawn weeds such as fox tail and crab grass. In many cases the lawn has not received an applicant of fertilizer for years.

Mulching the lawn with a coating of manure over winter is one method of furnishing a new food supply to the grass plants but unfortunately this treatment usually brings with it a fresh supply of noxious weed seed. For this reason a better plan, at least to start with, is to apply a dressing of commercial fertilizer. Scatter the fertilizer about the time the grass is first showing green in the spring.

In many towns a special high grade lawn fertilizer is available, analyzing five or six percent of nitrogen, ten or twelve percent phosphoric acid and three or four percent potash. A common commercial fertilizer analyzing 2-10-2 can always be purchased and by adding twenty-five pounds of sulphate of ammonia to 125 pounds of the 2-10-2 fertilizer, the resulting mixture makes an excellent lawn fertilizer. Apply about twenty pounds of either of the above fertilizer mixture to 1000 square feet of lawn.

Most lawns would be benefited by a yearly application of grass seed. Seeding should be done during March and on a still morning following a night which has been cold enough to freeze a crust on the ground. If white clover is desired in the lawn use one part of white clover seed to ten parts Blue Grass. Sow two pounds of seed to 3,000 square feet of lawn. Another good seed mixture is half Red Top and half Kentucky Blue Grass.

A more complete discussion of the care of lawns can be obtained by writing the Purdue University Agricultural Extension Department for Leaflet 41.

TO REPRESENT SUPREME LODGE

Major General Samuel L. Trabue Appointed to Investigate Conditions in Tornado Area

Accepts Appointment From Supreme Chancellor of Knights of Pythias Lodge as its Representative

Major General Samuel L. Trabue of this city, commanding the Uniform Rank, Knights of Pythias, of the United States and Canada, accepted appointment by telegraph, Tuesday evening, as a representative of the supreme lodge, Knights of Pythias, to investigate conditions in the storm-stricken areas of five states swept by a cyclone last week, and administer relief.

General Trabue went to Indianapolis today to organize for the work and arrange an itinerary, and planned to leave tonight or in the morning for the Illinois storm district, where the tornado caused the greatest loss of life and the worst property damage.

Five thousand dollars was wired to Mr. Trabue by Thomas D. Mears of Wilmington, North Carolina, supreme master of exchequer, who by virtue of his office is treasurer of the relief fund, to meet emergency needs of the investigation, and any further expenditures for relief will depend upon Mr. Trabue's recommendations.

The Rushville man was distinctly honored by being selected for this task by John Ballantyne of Boston, supreme chancellor of the Knights of Pythias. He will perform the task without pay as a service for the lodge.

General Trabue began to get some information on conditions in the storm area immediately and was in communication by telephone with Allen Douglas, grand keeper of records and seal of the Illinois grand lodge, and Carl R. Mitchell, Indiana grand keeper of records and seal.

He learned that no member of the Knights of Pythias lodge in Indiana suffered any loss of life or loss of property, but that many Pythians in Illinois suffered injuries and severe property loss.

The relief work of the supreme lodge will not be restricted to Knights of Pythias and their families, however, but will be in co-operation with other agencies already in the field.

This is not the first action of the Knights of Pythias lodge to relieve suffering as the outgrowth of the tornado. General Trabue explained, because immediately after the disaster, the grand keeper of records

Illinois storm district.

FLOOD WATERS GO DOWN GRADUALLY

Fall is Slight at Griffin, Threatened by Flood, Due to Swollen State of Ohio River

GUARDING AGAINST FIRE

Evansville Firemen Ready to Prevent Outbreak—Supplies Sent to Isolated Home

(By United Press)

Griffin, Ind., March 25—Flood waters of the Wabash and Black rivers which threatened to add to the ruin wrought here by last Wednesday's tornado, today were gradually receding.

Due to the swollen state of the Ohio river, the fall was slight. All roads leading into Griffin were impassable today, at least. Several washouts were reported on the Evansville road and traffic over this road cannot be resumed before Sunday.

Temporary fire headquarters were established today by Evansville fire officials. Four stations were set up in different sections of the town to guard against outbreak of fire in the ruins.

Snuffles were again sent out to isolated farm homes by wagon.

A slight rain early today had no effect on the river stage which was 90.1 feet, and falling at Mt. Carmel

Evansville, Ind., March 25—Flood waters of the Wabash and Black rivers were within a few hundred yards of the ruined village of Griffin, Ind., today.

A heavy downpour of rain in this section of the state during the night ended all hope for immediate relief from the menace of floods, al-

Piece of Cancelled Check From Princeton Bank Found

Part of a cancelled check cashied at the Peoples American National bank of Princeton, Ind., which was visited by the tornado last Wednesday evening, was found by Joseph Butler of Henderson in a field on the Jenkins farm just west of Henderson last Friday, Mr.
Butler revealed today.

There is little doubt but that the piece of paper was blown here by the strong wind which came out of the southwest the evening of the cyclone.

The stamped cancellation on the check showed Princeton, Ind., but the check was torn half in two and it was impossible to determine on what bank it was drawn. The bank's number printed on the check made it possible to identify the check as having been drawn on the Peoples American National bank of Princeton. It was for the sum of $450.00, was written February 18, 1920 and cashed the next day. The first name of the signature could not be made out, but the middle initial and last name was W. McClurkin.

Mr. Butler found the check while sowing clover seed and immediately guessed that it had been blown here from Princeton after the tornado.

Several Matters to be Brought Before Court Investigators, Prosecutor Announces

WITNESSES ARE SUMMONED

The grand jury of Rush county will be in session Thursday, according to an announcement made today by Gates Ketchum, prosecutor.

The prosecutor stated that there were several things to be brought before the investigators, and a list of the witnesses was given to Sheriff Hunt, who was busy today serving them.

The grand jury was in session a few weeks ago, and recessed until a later date, and is subject to call any time by the prosecutor.

It is expected that the first thing to be taken up Thursday will be the fatal shooting of Ray Lakin by Patrolman Smith, which happened last week, and the evidence obtained for the consideration of the grand jury to take whatever steps they deem necessary.

MRS. MARY GERAGHTY SUCCUMBS SUDDENLY

Widow of Lawrence J. Geraghty Stricken With Acute Dilation of Heart and Dies

HAD LIVED HERE SINCE 1859

Mrs. Mary Geraghty, widow of the late Lawrence J. Geraghty, died suddenly this morning at eleven o'- clock at the family home, 323 West Eighth street, death being caused from acute dilation of the heart, following acute indigestion.

Mrs. Geraghty was in her usual good health this morning and had finished an ironing, when she was taken suddenly ill, and stricken with the heart trouble. Her death proved quite a shock to the family, and her vast number of friends.

She was born October 5, 1854 in Butler county, O., and came to Rushville with her parents, James and Ann Scanlan, in 1859, having resided here since, and she was in her 71st year. She was married April 17, 1871 to Mr. Geraghty, and of the ten children born to the union, eight survive. Mr. Geraghty died in 1917.

Evangelist Thomas Says About Half of Protestant Ministry Does Not Preach it

EVEN IF THEY BELIEVE IT

Strange, He Declares, That Men Will Believe Bible, Yet Deny Such Eternal Truth as Hell

The Rev. Eddie Thomas, the evangelist at the St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal church, preached on "Hell," Tuesday evening and a large audience was in attendance for the meeting. Special music has been provided for the services this week and delegations from Indianapolis, Greensburg and Milroy are planning to attend. The Men's Bible class of the church plans to attend in a body on Friday night and a section of the church has been reserved for them.

In speaking on his subject "Hell" last night the evangelist said in part:

"In these days of skepticism and unbelief the doctrine of Hell has become unpopular. I think I am safe in saying about half of the Protestant ministry do not teach it, even if they believe it. The tendency of the times is to preach to suit the crowd and many in the crowd want a doctrine that will cool the fires of hell and soothe the sinner and twice dead professor."

These are some of the quotations from the bible given by Mr. Thomas:
"The Wicked shall be turned into hell," Psalm 9-17; "Let them go down quick into hell," Psalm 55-15;
"Her house is the way to hell," Proverbs 7-27; "Hell from beneath is moved for thee," Isaiah 14-9; "In Hell he lifted up his face in torment," Luke 16-23; "The whole body should be cast into hell," Matthew 5, 29, 30. "Both Soul and body in hell," Matthew 10-28. "Cast into hell-fire," Matthew 18-9. "How can ye escape the damnation of hell," Matthew 23, 33.

"But why multiply these texts?"
the speaker continued. "One clear text is as good as a thousand. Isn't it strange that men will claim to believe the bible, yet deny such a bulwark of eternal truth, and deny there is a hell. 'The wicked shall be turned into hell and all the nations that forget God,' is another reference from Psalm 8-17.

broken law. When God created the Heavens he placed all their host un-

Third Divorce Suit in Two Days in Which Wife is Made Defendant in Complaint

WALTER ADAMS, JR., FILES

Another husband has filed suit for divorce from his wife, a complaint being filed this morning in the circuit court by Walter Adams, Jr., by his next friend James Adams against Dorothy Adams, charging that she lived with him only 12 days, after their marriage.

The complaint alleges that they were married October 3, 1924 and separated October 15, and during their brief married life, he alleges that she was guilty of associating with other men, and left the city
with other men, and left the city failed to return and live with him.
He also charges her with having a high temper, was vulgar and used profane language.

This is the third divorce suit in two days in which the husbands are seeking divorces, and is an unusual turn of affairs, as 80 percent of the divorces are filed by the wives.

Edgar Stiers, as administrators of the estate of John O. Williams, has filed suit against Sylvester Mc-Kibben and others, the complaint being on a note and with the demand for $225 judgment.

It will be recalled that a plan for the financing of a gymnasium was the progress that has been made on it will be announced at the banquet.

FEARED SHE MAY HARM HERSELF

Dorothy Ellington, Young Matri-cide, Crumbles Under Strain

San Francisco, Calif., March 25—Fear that Dorothy Ellington, 16 year old matricide, may attempt suicide in a spell of hysterics, a double guard of police women were placed about her today.

The once hardened lass, whose mask of sophisticated attitude which marked her as a girl without a heart, crumbled under the steady drone of murder, murder, murder, as the selection of a jury to decide her fate continued.

"Dorothy is nearing a breakdown," Jail Matron Kennedy said
today.

Swine Sanitation Tour of County Proving of Immense Benefit to School Boys

POST MORTEMS ARE HELD

Dr. G. N. Wickwire, Federal Veterinarian, Points to Necessity of Cleanliness in Hog Raising

The swine sanitation demonstrations, which started in the county Tuesday, and will continue until Thursday night, are meeting with much success, with excellent cooperation being shown from all teachers.
Pupils are learning valuable things in physiology and human sanitation, as well as hog sanitation.

At Raleigh Tuesday, the demonstration was carried on before 85 boys of the high school and grades, with Dr. G. N. Wickwire, U. S. department of animal husbandry, conducting the post mortem part of the demonstration. The teachers, Blythe Seales and Dudley Campbell also assisted. County agent Van Matre and B. D. Farthing, school superintendent, also were present.

Mange was found on the first pig used in the demonstration, and the pupils learned that this causes a condition known as elephant hide, which can be controlled by sanitary steps and dipping the pig in order to kill the parasites. The pig also was found to have round worms in large numbers.

The round worm situation can be handled largely through sanitation means, and it was pointed out to the pupils that in this case sanitation means cleaning the sow, cleaning and disinfecting the pens, and keeping the pigs there for two weeks, and then taking them to a lot that did not have hogs on it last year.

The round worm will not exist, if these steps are taken. It was disclosed to the pupils. The worm remedies for pigs this spring, were outlined by Dr. Wickwire, who prescribes sanitolin and calomel, 21 grains each in capsule form, or oil of chemonodim, 15 to 20 drops, in half an ounce of raw linseed oil or castor oil for a dose to each pig.

The pigs must be fasted 24 to 30

COUNTY WINS IN ALL 3 DIVISIONS

Glenwood Teams First in High School and Grammar Grade Sections of District Event

MUSIC MEMORY CONTEST HELD

Richland Township Wins in Rural School Division of District Event Without Opposition

Rush county schools won a distinct honor in the district music memory contest held in this city Tuesday afternoon, by taking first place in all three divisions, and with little opposition being shown in the competition.

Glenwood, winners in the county contest in both the grade and high school divisions, easily won first place positions in the district contest, and the Richland township rural school won without any opposition.

The Glenwood high school team turned in a perfect score of 140. The Glenwood grade team won in that division with 133 1/2 points. These two teams, composed of three members each, and also three from Richland, will go to the state contest to be held in Indianapolis Saturday afternoon at Shortridge high school.

In the high school division, Con-nersville ranked second, Middletown third and Waldron fourth. In the grade division, Brookville was second, Lewisville was third, Liberty was fourth and Waldron fifth.

In the county, medals will be awarded to the team members in all three classes, scoring the best, with gold medals for highest points, silver for second and bronze for third place. The medals for the county contest were provided by the Rushville Kiwanis and Rotary clubs.

The success that the Glenwood school achieved in the district contest is most encouraging and speaks very highly of the music work in this county, which is being done under the direction of Miss Alice Piersol, music supervisor for the county schools.

The Glenwood school teams were so much further advanced in the grades, that there was little comparison, and a comparison of the grades made in the county contest last week, shows that any one of the teams that was defeated, could have made better grades than any of the opposition teams in the district contest yesterday.

Richland was represented by a team, but they did not take the test, because of no opposition. Mr. Banta, in charge of the school work there, has five students all of whom make perfect grades on each test.

though the Wabash was reported falling upstate.

The Ohio river continued to rise, causing the waters of the Wabash to spread further over the lowlands in the vicinity of Griffin a week ago.

Another slight rise will send the waters pouring over the site of Griffin. Tornado injured marooned in farm houses were being rescued in efforts manned by militia men and Red Cross workers.

No immediate fear was felt for the refugees in Griffin as long as there is an avenue of escape for them over the tracks of the Illinois Central railroad in the event of another rise in the river.

Most of the seriously injured from Griffin had already been taken to hospitals in Evansville or New Harmony.

Farmers living in the lowlands along the Wabash were scurrying with their families to safety on the higher ground today. The hamlets of Hovey and Webb's Ferry, which escaped the direct path of the tornado, were periled by the floods and all the citizens fled.

The town of Eastwood, Ill., just across the river, was also reported under water.

The Wabash and Bowe rivers at the point where they join had reached a breadth of four miles.

Supplies were being taken into Griffin over the railroad bridge, which stands high and is in no danger.

Telephone linemen were raising the one telephone emergency line strung along trees after the tornado to keep it out of the water.

As soon as the flood waters recede, work of reconstructing Griffin will be started, it was announced by Marcus Sonntag, chairman of the Evansville Red Cross.

He said the national Red Cross will aid in rehabilitating the town, which will be rebuilt along the plans of the original town.

Sonntag was advised that national headquarters in Washington had appointed a permanent organization to take charge of the work.

At Princeton and other tornado swept towns, the situation improved hourly. Two companies of national guardsmen were relieved from duty at Princeton, there presence no longer being necessary.

Organized Relief Started

St. Louis, Mo., March 25—Organized disaster relief workers today were sweeping into the storm-swept section of Southern Illinois and Indiana, preparing to aid refugees in carrying out relief plans.

Henry E. Baker, national disaster relief worker, said between 75 and 100 of the relief workers would go into southern Illinois and would remain there until reconstruction was well under way. The entire relief program has been turned over to the Red Cross.

As soon as the relief workers arrive here, special rural caravans will tour the agricultural districts, aiding the farmers in rebuilding their homes.

The Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., of Lynn, Mass., is recognized as the greatest user of roots and herbs in the world. Over half a million pounds are used annually in manufacturing Lydia E. DOCTRINE OF HELL NOT VERY POPULAR

der certain law. The more we study the planetary system, the more we are convinced of the existence of the law under which they are placed; so with the earth, the vegetable, and animal kingdom, from the lowest to the highest.

"The laws of God are just and holy and good, but a law without a penalty would be a nullity. Nature demands full pay for a violated law. The penalty God demands for the violation of his law is death. Death means separation, spiritual death means the soul cut off from union with God. Physical death means separation of soul and body; eternal death, man eternally separated from God.

"It is very beautiful to paint in

language, the fatherly love, goodness and mercy of God; but the friend who loves you will tell you of perils as well as beauty and you will thank him all through eternity for telling you the truth. It is the real friend who tells you of danger.

"Who is to blame if you break a law and are punished? The judge or the violators? If we take the Bible we find the story of His love and the story of his severity, and we can judge the future by the past." He mentioned the flood as one example, also Sodom and Gomorrah. God let Israel through the Red Sea and destroyed Pharaoh's hosts, the speaker pointed out.

"I sometimes think if it were not for the prayers of many righteous men and women God would utterly cut off this generation of gambling,

He concluded his sermon by saying "God is the same today and forever more. The kind of Hell God pictures is one you cannot be happy in. It will be too late sometime, now is the day of salvation."

Guard the Tongue—Keep thy tongue from evil, and thy lips from speaking guile. Depart from evil, and do good; seek peace, and pursue it. Psalm 34: 13-14.

Prayer: Thou knowest, Lord, that the tongue can no man tame. Bring our thoughts in accord with thine, and our tongues will speak only wisdom.

A Bad Practice

The basketball season is over, but it is not so far away, that some of its lessons have been forgotten.

No sport ever had such a grip on the people of Indiana as high school basketball, and lovers of the hard-wood game are anxious to see it kept clean so that it will not lose favor.

One of the practices permitted, which may prove harmful, is that of engaging officials who are in the sporting goods business.

It is not fair to the coaches of high school teams, the players, or the officials themselves to allow this sort of thing to go on in high school basketball.

No accusations have ever been made, not even intimations, that any official has permitted his business relations to color his decisions, but it can not be denied that there might be a coach who would patronize a sporting goods house with the idea of winning some favor from a representative of that house, when he was acting as an official in a game.

The temptation to inject harmful practices into the game should be removed. The Indiana High School Athletic association should not sanction officials who sell sporting goods. For the good of basketball, this thing, which might become serious at any time, ought to be dealt with now, before it is too late.

A Service to Farmers

Recent changes in crop estimating and forecasting by the United States department of agriculture will better enable farmers to adjust the supply of farm products to the demand for them.

Forecasts of the production of some crops and livestock are now being made with great enough accuracy, it is claimed by the federal department, to indicate future price trends.

The only hope of the farmer to increase the price he receives for his products is to be guided by the demand in his production. He is attempting to achieve the same end with cooperative marketing, which also seeks to regulate supply in accordance with the demand.

It has been conclusively proved that supply and demand is the thing which governs the price of things produced on the farm, and anything that will aid the farmer in fitting his program in with the demand for what he raises, will be of immense benefit to him.

The Temptation to Speed

The warm spring days and the spring-like atmosphere is bringing out every conceivable kind of automobile.

The temptation to speed is great. Some drivers can't resist it, judging from the way cars have been traveling about Rushville during the past few days.

Boys are fitting up old machines of doubtful qualities and driving them at high rates of speed.

The only time to prevent serious, perhaps fatal, accidents from fast driving, is before they happen.

Clearly a word to the wise should be sufficient. If the speedsters persist, the police must not hesitate to make arrests because there is no reason why the lives of pedestrians and sensible drivers of automobiles should be jeopardized.

SAFETY SAM

I reckon there's no tellin' how many ten-thousand-dollar lives have been lost while tryin' to save ten-cent hats from bein' run over!

Hunt's Washington Letter

BY HARRY B. HUNT
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON—Many thousands of dollars could have been "glanned" for Uncle Sam's treasury had provision been made for cashing in on the amusement value of the short special session of the Senate which convened March 4.

All the elements of drama, for which folks pay out hard cash, were supplied on a scale that has been equaled by no theatrical presentation seen in this city in a decade.

Daily, long queues of spectators waited in line at the gallery doors for a chance for even a few minutes of the free entertainment provided within.

But it was a case of first come first served, and those who came early and got seats stuck through hour after hour of the show, with the crowds of late comers getting never a look-in.

Would they have paid for admission? Well—one doorkeeper estimated if he had been able to cash in on the pleas personally made to him to "see what he could do," with the hint it would be worth his while, he could have spent the summer vacation on a Mediterranean cruise!

THE big crush, of course, came on March 16, when the Senate had agreed to vote for a second time on the Warren nomination, which had previously been lost, due to the mid-afternoon nap of Vice President Dawes.

The Senate was to meet this morning at 10:30. By 9 a. m. Capitol Hill had much the same appearance as on March 4, when President Coolidge was to be inaugurated. A steady stream of automobiles was discharging excited and interested grand dames and gentlemen. More lowly folk packed the footpaths and overflowed into the streets.

All the Senate elevators were closed, except to members. A few possible jams and accidents. Police were on all the stairways.

MEET Senator Willis of Ohio on the gallery floor at 9:30. He was out of breath and his clothing was awry.

Only his old technique as a football player had enabled him, in spite of the right of way he was supposed to have as a senator, to get an influential constituent into the packed gallery.

"Looks as if you're going to have a good audience today, senator," I observed.

Willis wiped a perspiring brow. "All I've done all morning," he said, "is help provide the audience. Eight million people have been in to see me. They all want seats. There wouldn't be half enough if I had 'em all. I'm going into hiding, right now."

THE GARDEN

By OTTIS CRAWFORD

I think I am a lucky dog. Each year in the Spring When I receive my catalogue, Displaying and describing everything.

I place the book upon the table And I gaze at it for hours. Always sure I will be able To raise a lot of flowers.

I pick out beans and lettuce And a fancy kind of beet, And I'm sure the book will get us, Most everything we eat.

I am full of vim and vigor In the early days of spring And I feel a great deal bigger, When I've planted everything.

I intend to raise tomatoes, Like the pictures in the book And a lot of nice potatoes That will satisfy the cook.

Some things I aim to plant in rows And others plant in beds, While with the use of rake and hoes, I'll raise some cabbage heads.

The flowers will always make me laugh But onions make me cry, I've also got to stand the gaff, From the neighbors passing by.

But here's what looks so queer to me When I've planted all the seeds, The only thing I ever see, Is just a patch of weeds.

For when the sweat gets on my brow I know that I will shirk And think I'll raise a garden anyhow Without doing any work.

And in the long hot days of June Before my muscles harden, It don't take much to change my tune.

And make me say, "confound the garden."

Now Is the Ideal Time to Build More Paved Highways

There is not a single community in the United States that does not need a greater mileage of permanently paved roads.

More than 17,000,000 motor vehicles are now using our highways for business and pleasure. They are packing the paved roads in already congested areas, as well as over-running regions until recently considered remote. And they are pounding to pieces all but permanent roads.

Even though a number of states have made good progress in building Concrete Roads, their present permanently improved mileage is entirely inadequate, as every motorist knows.

Meantime, while the building of permanent highways lags, the production of motor vehicles is at the rate of 4,000,000 a year!

Sooner or later this gap must be closed. Why wait?

Not in a long time have general conditions been so favorable for carrying on such public works as permanent highway building, thus assuring tax payers more for their money.

Now is the ideal time to extend both street and road programs!

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)
New York, March 25—Honesty, courage, competence and decision are given as the essentials in a first class referee by William A. Muldoon, senior member of the New York Boxing Commission, while discussing the complaints made about some of the decisions given after contests in New York.

"A good referee," he said, "must be able to see, to think and to act simultaneously. Of course, it must be taken for granted that he knows what to do or he shouldn't be in the ring. The most essential thing though is to do something and do it quickly. Nothing will destroy confidence so quickly as indecision."

No one in the boxing game today has had a broader or more varied experience in boxing than William A. Muldoon. Perhaps no one knows the ins and outs and the tricks and traps of the game as intimately as he does. He has been associated intimately with the game for fifty years and in that time the fighting game has been at its worst and at its best, and he believes that the game is in better condition now than it has been previously.

Muldoon is perhaps the finest physical specimen for his years in the United States. He is older than Major Koehler, the physical culture expert at the United States Military Academy, who is said to be the finest built and best preserved soldier in the world. Muldoon has kept his body young and has retained a very youthful mentality by the cleanest of living. You can't keep a first class brain functioning in a third class frame.

There have been complaints about some of the decisions that have been given recently in New York. Some blamed decisions that did not meet with their individual approval upon incompetence of the referees and the judges. Others hinted at dishonesty. While it is perhaps a fact that no fallible commission can recruit and maintain a staff of officials that is 100 percent beyond approach, it must be recalled in justice to the New York Commission and its officials, that no one has ever been able to quote the flimsiest bit of evidence that a wrong decision had ever been given deliberately or maliciously by a set of New York officials.

When a contest ends without a marked superiority to the credit of one of the boxers, there always will be a division of opinion. This has been shown time after time by the comment of New York boxing writers on bouts that ended officially in a draw. Of fifteen written opinions by reporters who are supposed to have judgment as competent as that of the officials, five may say that it was a draw, five will say that one boxer was entitled to a shade and five will say that the other boxer won. This percentage may not be accurate in all cases, but it is very seldom that the boxing writers will agree even among themselves.

SHEPHERD'S EFFORT TO GET BAIL TO END TODAY

A DECISION BY TONIGHT

(By United Press)
Chicago, March 25—William D. Shepherd's attempt to be released on bail—already stamped as the greatest fight of its kind in the history of the criminal court—entered its fourth day today.

If the state's attorneys, whose arguments are heard today, do not talk too long, the man who is accused of murdering his millionaire ward, Billy McClintock, will know by night whether he will have his freedom pending the trial or whether he will have to occupy one of the cells in "murder's row" at the county jail.

State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe's indictment expert, Thomas Marshall, opened the state's argument just before court closed yesterday. He was to conclude his speech today and to be followed another assistant prosecutor, George Gorman. Then Crowe himself will close the state's argument that Shepherd should be confined to jail.

Shepherd's attorney, William Scott Stewart, consumed most of yesterday's session with a brilliant argument, attacking the state's case and claiming that his client should be allowed freedom on bond because "the proof of Shepherd's guilt is not evident and the presumption of his guilt is not great."

Stewart cited other cases similar to Shepherd's as precedent. He pointed to cases in which persons "confessed" themselves to be accomplices in murders and other crimes when it was later proved they had no connection with them. It is Stewart's contention that Dr. Charles C. Faiman's "confession" that he gave Shepherd the typhoid germs with which to murder young McClintock is not sufficient ground to hold Shepherd in custody.

FOR WIFE MURDER

Connelton, Ind., March 25—Joseph Schoeneberger, 38, is in jail here today charged with murdering his wife Mrs. Joseph Schoeneberger, died at her home in Tell City yesterday after she was brutally beaten Monday morning. Neighbors said the couple had been drinking and cries of help coming from the house were unheeded because such noises were customary.

TAKEN TO HOSPITAL

Mrs. Burl Matney of New Salem, who has been ill for some time, was taken to the Methodist hospital in Indianapolis Tuesday to undergo a course of treatment.

SAYS BICKNELL MAYOR RECEIVED $4 A GALLON

EAGLES AND MOOSE SOLD IT

Indianapolis, Ind., March 25—Damaging testimony was given in federal court today by Harry Pope of Linton, Ind., a government witness in the trial of William Callahan mayor of Bicknell, Otis Turley, chief of police and five others on charges of conspiracy to violate the national prohibition laws.

Pope testified that from twenty five to fifty gallons of moonshine whiskey were made each week on a farm near Bicknell and delivered under the protection of Mayor Callahan to the Moose and Eagles' lodge rooms of Bicknell.

Mayor Callahan received $4 on each gallon, Pope testified. At one time I slipped $300 into the mayor's pocket, while they were together in the restaurant in Bicknell, Pope said.

Sam Lynn, custodian of the Moose lodge testified that liquor was delivered directly to members of the house committee and was sold at the lodge rooms.

hours before giving the worm medicine. This condition was true in all the pigs examined in the six demonstrations Tuesday. In one pig examined at Center, it was found also to contain thrice-head whip worms and round worms, this being all the intestinal parasites that hogs can have.

and seal of the five states visited by the storm either made or had made a preliminary investigation to determine first-hand the extent of the loss of life and damage to property.

Mr. Trabue will have this information as the basis for his investigation as he expected to get in touch with all of the state lodge organizations before starting his tour.

The supreme lodge representative expected to go into the heart of the Illinois cyclone area first, and from there to Missouri to get an idea of the extent of the damage. He will then return to Indianapolis and go through the storm district of southern Indiana, Kentucky and Tennessee.

The preliminary appropriation for the relief work came from a supreme lodge emergency fund and future expenditures will be from a tornado relief fund that is being raised by the supreme lodge.

An appeal has gone out from the supreme chancellor to the grand chancellors of all the grand domains or states, of the United States, and the grand chancellors in turn have made the appeal to the subordinate lodge, which may raise the money by volunteer gifts or appropriate the money from the lodge treasurer, as they see fit.

General Trabue explained that this was the custom of the supreme lodge, always to act in cases of national emergency and disaster. He recalled two outstanding pieces of relief work by the supreme lodge—the California earthquake and the 1913 flood in the middle west.

There is another instance on record where a mine disaster in the west almost entirely wiped out a Knights of Pythias lodge. The supreme lodge aided the families and re-established the lodge.

Rush County Women Work on Clothing Project

Union County Women Have Fitting Climax for the Home Project Work They Have Taken

Same Clothing Project is Being Given in This County For First Time This Year

The climax for the home project work in Union Co. was the Achievement Day program put on by the women who had taken the clothing project under the leadership of Miss Meta Martin of Purdue University. At this meeting silk and woolen dresses, coats and other garments were on display.

Reports show that during the past year 115 adult dresses and coats, 134 children's dresses and coats, 101 undergarments, and 56 made-over garments have been constructed by women taking this work. These garments show also that they have saved $535.00 on garments made from old materials and $385.00 on new goods made up at home.

The instructions for this work was given by Miss Martin to the project leaders, who in turn went back to their townships and gave the same information to local groups. In this way 39 meetings were held, reaching 271 women.

Two demonstrations were given at the Achievements Day meeting by Miss Martin, one on the use of colors and another on the seamless dress. A series of short plays were also staged by local women. Seventy-five people partook of the dinner and over 250 were present for the afternoon session.

This same clothing project is being given in Rush county for the first time this year by Mrs. Helen McKinley. Eleven of the twelve townships were represented at a

RUSH CO. PIG MANAGEMENT RULES

Life History of Round Worm
1. Round worms' eggs are eaten (or swallowed) by young pigs.

2. The eggs hatch in the bowels.

3. The little worms microscopic in size get into the blood stream.

4. These little worms first go to the liver in their life history.

5. Then to the heart and lungs they stay in the lungs and grow to be 2 an inch long.

6. They then crawl up or are coughed up into the back part of the mouth and are swallowed into the intestines where they grow to be 10 or 12 inches long in 6 weeks to 2 months.

The rules suggested to avoid the round worm are as follows:

1. Clean out all straw and manure in farrowing pens prior to farrowing season.

2. Wash farrowing pens thoroughly with hot water and lye. Using about 3 can of lye to every 35 to 40 gallons of water.

3. Scrub off the brood sows udder with warm water and soap before putting them into clean farrowing pens.

4. Keep sows and pigs out of old hog lots and pastures from farrowing to weaning time.

Dr. G. N. Wickwire suggests that if these 4 suggestions are outlined under Rush County's Pig Management Rules are followed out, shoats will not have round worms and be stunted, but leaders' school, conducted by Mrs. McKinley March 11.

At this school, Mrs. McKinley gave instructions and outlined meetings for March and April. She will return early in May and conduct a similar school.

will thrive and grow rapidly. This method is called the Rush County System of Pig Management.

HUNTINGTON FARMERS TAKE INVENTORIES

NINE BANKS COOPERATED

Ten farms in Huntington County recently served as meeting places where farmers considered methods of taking simple inventories of live stock, feed, supplies, machinery and real estate; and the usefulness of these inventories after they were taken.

A representative of the Agricultural Extension Division of Purdue University discussed the value of inventories as one of the first steps in studying the farm business to increase its efficiency; methods of valuation at "farm" prices or a fair sale price on the farm, and methods of figuring depreciation on equipment and improvements. Except where weather conditions made it impossible an inspection was then made of the cribs, bins, silo, etc., and the amounts of products on the farm calculated from the number of cubic feet of space occupied.

The attendance at these inventory "schools" ranged from six to 38. With few exceptions that farmers present agreed to take an inventory on their own farms, using the Indiana Farm Record Book prepared by Purdue University as a blank form for entering the inventory. Nine banks in Huntington County cooperated in purchasing a supply of these books for farmers who were willing to use them. Many farmers planned also to keep a record in this book of their farm receipts and expenses during the year.

MEMBERSHIP MAY REACH 10,000 MARK

Wheat Growers' Association Has Ten Counties, Including Rush, to Boost 300 Membership

Association Has Been Re-incorporated Under New Indiana Co-operative Marketing Law

Indianapolis, Ind., March 25—Membership in the Indiana Wheat Growers' Association, which reached a net total last year of 6,872, is expected to pass the 10,000 mark within the next ten days, according to an announcement the first of this week. While the association had only one county last year with a membership of 300, ten counties now boast that number or more. These counties are, in the order of their standing, Dubois, Wayne, Knox, Parke, Vigo, Rush, Clinton, Gibson, Johnson and Ripley. Several others are close to the 300 mark and are expected to go over at an early date.

The annual election of directors of the association is now under way. Voting is being done by mail and the heavy return of ballots from each district indicates keen interest in the operation of the wheat pool. New storage facilities are being erected by elevator interests and a number of country mills also are arranging to handle pooled wheat under the conditions imposed by the U. S. warehouse act. The association has investigated very carefully a number of leading devices for use at points where there are no elevators or elevators refuse to handle pooled wheat. The purchasing department of the Indiana Farm Bureau will handle one of these devices, as state agent, and several of these machines already have been placed.

A review of the recent legislative session reveals that a number of measures of interest to farmers were enacted. These included the co-operative marketing bill; a bill providing for the tuberculin testing of cattle; for the establishment of a crop and livestock statistics department at Purdue; the filled milk bill; the revaluation of real estate; increased tax on gasoline; regulation of the sale of unpasteurized milk; and state income tax. The oleo bill, which passed both houses after a spirited

BOOSTER CLUB TO BE HOST

The corn purchased by the Rushville Boosters club for the Rush County Boys' club will be distributed on Wednesday evening, April 8, at 7:30 o'clock at the Social club rooms.

Fathers of the 125 boys who have joined the club, and the boys, together with the township club leaders and the county committee of five having general direction of the club, will be guests of the Boosters club at the meeting, and refreshments will be served.

One leader in each township was responsible for the selection of the boys competing in the club and the general committee of five drew up the rules and will have general oversight of the contest. This committee of five is composed of Clyde Aroney of Anderson township, Will Logan of Noble, Newton Halterman of Rushville, John Hufferd of Posey and Carl Gieg of Washington.

Each boy will receive fifteen pounds of the championship yellow corn grown by Argus Wagoner of Orange township, who won the yellow corn sweepstakes at the state corn show this year, and will be expected to return 60 ears of what he raises from his patch so that it may be given out as seed for next year's club.

By KATHRYNE L. McMAHON
Purdue University Home Economics Department

Planning The House Cleaning

The house cleaning should be so planned that the housewife may carry on the business of her home without an interference.

First see that your housecleaning tool chest is well equipped, and that you have furniture polish, wax, cleaning fluids, and soaps.

The attic and basement should be the first to come on the cleaning list. Everything in the attic should be well aired, cleaned and brushed. This should be done before it is hot, for it is much easier to work up near the roof in cool weather. After things are well aired and sunned, they should be put back in boxes or closets in wax paper. If it is material that moths will attack place champhor naphthalene, cedar and tar in the boxes. These preparations will not keep the eggs and larvae left in woolen materials from developing if they are left on open shelves or in loosely constructed containers. Fumigation by carbon disulphide is an excellent method of immediately killing moths in clothing stored in tight containers. The basement may be damp and therefore requires special care, both because things stored in it may spoil and because the quality of the air in it affects that all over the house. Plenty of lime should be used to absorb the moisture. Unplastered walls should be white washed at this time as they reflect light and whitewash is a germicide. Old papers and magazines should not be left around because they absorb moisture. The floor should be scrubbed with soap and water, then dried by having the air blow across it. Cupboards and shelves should also be cleaned and straightened.

The closets are next in order: clothes should be taken out, cleaned, brushed and aired. The heavy woolens should be put away using the

SCORE CARD IS USED TO ANALYZE FARM BUSINESS

PLAN ADVANCED BY PURDUE

A farm management score card was used as a basis for White County farmers to study their own farming operations at a two-day farm management school held at Burnettsville recently by Lynn Robertson, Farm Management Demonstrator of Purdue University. This is as far as known, the first school in the United States at which farmers have analyzed their businesses by means of a score card. The score card used was one recently prepared by the Extension Department of Purdue University and such items as crop rotation, kind and amount of livestock volume of business, farm layout, farm improvements and equipment, and farm accounts are among the important subjects included. As these subjects were discussed each farmer scored his own business according to how well he measured up to the standards given.

Those attending the school showed great interest in this new method of analyzing the farm business and finding weaknesses which if corrected will likely increase the efficiency of their farming. All of them obtained farm record books from Purdue University in which to keep accounts during the coming year.

SMUT TREATMENT SIMPLE FOR OATS

Is Not Much of a Job for Farmers, as 15 Minutes is Enough to Treat 50 Bushels

FORMALDEHYDE SOLUTION

Is Sprinkled Lightly on the Oats as They Are Being Shoveled in the Farm Wagon

Oat smut treatment is not as much of a job as many farmers think. Two years ago, a farmer in Hancock county treated ninety bushels of seed in less than a half hour. Around Lafayette the farmers lightly sprinkle the oats with the formaldehyde solution as they are being shoveled into a wagon box. When the oats are all loaded it is only necessary to cover the load with sacks or blankets for a few hours or it can be left until next morning. In this case the oats are broad-casted but the same method can be used by other farmers even though they do not broadcast. The farmer need not wait till it is time to sow his oat before treating them. However, if treatment is done at sowing time, all that is needed is fifteen minutes at night to treat enough seed for next day's work. This seed can be immediately sacked or left in the pile and covered but if the oats will not be sown for several days it is always best to open the pile and allow the gas to escape before sacking them.

The treatment can be done in either of two ways, by mixing one pint of formaldehyde with one pint of water and spraying it on the oats; or by mixing the pint of formaldehyde with 5 gallons of water and applying it with a sprinkling can. The spraying method is effective. Continued on Page Two

Fifty-One Sheepmen in 26 Indiana Counties Entered in Hoosier Project This Season

Several of the Leading Counties in the Corn Belt Compete For the Big Honors

Lafayette, Ind., March 24—Fifty-one sheep growers in 26 Indiana counties are enrolled in the Hoosier Gold Medal Sheep Club this year according to report today of the Agricultural Extension Department of Purdue University. This is the largest enrollment the club has had during its three years of existence. One-half the members this year have been enrolled in one or more of the preceding years.

Jefferson county situated in the southeastern portion of the state with 11 members has the largest enrollment. This is one of the few hilly sections of the state where the sheep business is prosperous and on the increase. This is due to the fact that spring lamb production on farms here is getting a foot-hold and is helping bring prosperity. Sheep have followed alfalfa in Jefferson county. In other hilly sections where no legumes are grown, sheep production is perhaps on the decline.

Montgomery county in the heart of Indiana's corn belt has the second largest enrollment with eight. This was the first county in the state to take up sheep improvement work, starting a program seven years ago. This improvement plan has included tours, production demonstrations, boys and girls clubs and enrollment in the Gold Medal Sheep Club.

five but is more work than the second method. Both are "dry" methods. One pint of formaldehyde will kill the smut in 40 to 50 bushels and the amount of water added makes no difference. Dr. C. T. Gregory of the botany department of Purdue University has found. It is only added for the sake of convenience, when 5 gallons is mixed with one pint of formaldehyde there is a large enough volume that the solution can be applied with a sprinkling pot. One sprinkle to each two shovels full of oats will distribute the solution throughout the pile. In two hours the water will all be absorbed leaving the oats as dry as in the beginning.

Many thousands of newly set shade trees die every year not because they were not good trees to start but because they were not handled properly when planted, said, C. L. Burkholder of the Purdue University Horticultural staff recently.

If the soil is poor and gravelly it is a good plan to dig a hole about twice as large as needed to accommodate the root system and fill in around the roots with good garden soil. Set the tree two to three inches deeper than it stood in the nursery row. Never put manure in around the roots of the tree. After planting, however, a heavy application of manure should be spaded into the ground around the tree in a circle five feet in diameter. Follow this up with a layer of manure three or four inches deep over the spaded area. This treatment will insure plenty of food for maximum growth as well as hold a good supply of moisture about the roots of the tree.

After planting, whether in the fall or in the spring, wrap each tree from the ground up to the first limb with burlap sacks or heavy paper. Leave this wrap on for at least two seasons. This prevents sun scald on the bodies of the trees which is invariably followed by an attack of flat borers.

A full discussion of varieties and pruning of young shade trees is included in Purdue Bulletin 119 which will be sent free of charge to any one writing the Purdue University Agricultural Extension Department. Bulletin 98 on the "Planting and Care of Shrubs" is also available for distribution at this time.

FLOWERING SHRUBS FOR HOME GROUNDS

A home grounds is not complete without proper plantings of trees, shrubs and flowers. The first requirements of a well arranged home grounds are a good lawn and attractive natural arrangements of hard-wood trees.

These two important features should have a back ground of flowering shrubs massed in groups about the foundation of the house, along the borders of the yard and about the entrance to the grounds. If one is able to employ a professional landscape gardener this is no doubt the best way to procure the best planting plans. If this is impossible Purdue Bulletin 98 gives many worthwhile suggestions which can be followed by anyone even though they have very little personal knowledge of varieties of shrubs. Many small detail planting groups are illustrated in this bulletin which will work in nicely about the foundation of the average house. Other groups are made up of higher growing shrubs for screen and border plantings and for most plantings about the entrance of drives and walks. This bulletin may be obtained free of charge by writing the Purdue University Agricultural Extension Department, Lafayette, Indiana. Leaflet 41 on the "Care of the Lawn" and Bulletin 119 on the "Planting and Care of Shade Trees" are also available for distribution.

SHORT CUTS IN MEALS

By ANETA BEEDLE
Purdue University Home Economics Department

SHORT CUTS IN MEALS

Now that the spring housecleaning days are near every housewife wants to find as many short cuts as possible in the daily routine of housekeeping, and especially in the preparation of three meals a day. She is tired and worn out after the semi-annual routing of elusive dust and during those days she is grateful for any suggestion that will combine two and even three dishes into one, thus saving time, energy, fuel and disposition.

The use of the various cookers as the fireless, pressure and waterless, also are time savers, as whole meals may be cooked at one time, in any one of the three.

Scalloped Tomatoes With Ham
Drain juice from one can tomatoes. Grease baking dish, and cover bottom with tomatoes, dot with butter, dredge with pepper and salt, sprinkle with bread crumbs, chopped onion and ham cut in small pieces, arrange another layer of tomatoes, then crumbs, ham and onion, and proceed until dish is filled. Pour over all enough of the tomato juice to flour and blend well; add milk and stir until smooth; add salt, paprika, peppers chopped and cheese; mix with potatoes and turn into greased baking dish, cover with buttered crumbs, and bake 15 minutes or until brown.

Cook onion in bacon fat, add moisture well, and then finish dish with covering of crumbs, dotted with butter. Bake 20 to 30 minutes in moderate oven.

Scalloped Potatoes With Cheese

1 quart cooked potatoes sliced, 1 onion chopped, 2 tbsp. bacon fat, 4 tsp. flour, 1 c. grated cheese, 2 c. hot milk, 1 tsp. salt, 1 tsp. paprika, 2 canned red peppers, 1 c. buttered crumbs.

Instead of adding the cheese, make a medium white sauce with the milk and mix left over meat in the sauce. Then add to other ingredients.

Italian Macaroni

2 cups macaroni, 1 tbsp. salt, 4 tsp. bacon fat, 4 tsp. flour, 1 c. chopped peppers, 2-3 c. chopped onion, 1 qt. tomatoes strained, 1 lb. cheese if desired.

Cook macaroni in boiling salted water until soft. Drain in colander, pour over it cold water to prevent pieces adhering. Cook onion and pepper in bacon fat until soft, but not brown. Add flour, stir until smooth, add hot tomato, and stir until it boils. Add salt and macaroni, reheat over hot water to prevent burning, and serve at once.

Meat may also be added if desired.

Kidney Bean Stew

1 small can kidney beans, 1 onion, 1 qt. tomatoes, 1 tbsp. butter salt and pepper to taste, 1 c. rice, 2 small potatoes.

Chop onion, dice potatoes and add other ingredients. Cook until done. Water may be added if necessary.

ply. Wash them out with warm water and use some disinfectant. When cleaning the linen closet, a list of linen should be made out in order to check upon the supply. The linen not used every day should be wrapped in tissue paper. Blue paper is best as it prevents linen turning yellow.

Drawers may be cleaned on a rainy day. Everything should be taken out. The drawers dusted with a damp cloth and clean paper put in them.

If any furniture is to be refinished it should be done early so that it will be well dried when the entire house is finished. The curtains and linens can be done at sometime when the family washing is not very large. After these things are done you are then ready for the general house cleaning.

To be Given to Youths Who Win Prizes at Annual Purdue Egg Show, May 5-9

MARKS NEW COOPERATION

Indicative of Interest Railroads Have in Agricultural Development in Country

A ten dollar scholarship in a county agricultural contest, won by an Indiana youth years ago, took him on a visit to an agricultural "short course" at Purdue University. He liked the place and the place liked him; he did good work and the University wanted good work. His friends back home had confidence in him, they urged him to go back to the University and take the four years' course in Agriculture. He did. That youth J. H. Skinner is now Dean of Agriculture in his Alma Mater.

And now in 1925 the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad comes with an offer of two $100.00 scholarships, to be given, not to young men who have ideas about automatic couplers or air brakes, or mechanical stokers, but to two Indiana high school youths who win prizes at the annual Purdue Egg Show, Lafayette, Indiana to be held May 5-9.

This offer of the B. & O. is very unusual, but is interestingly indicative of the interest the railroads have in Agricultural development in the county they serve. They are interested in producing more eggs, in the going of young men to college, and in the consequent producing of

still more and better eggs. The offer of the railroad marks co-operation of a new, promising and mutually profitable sort between the Purdue Egg Show and the Railroad.

The scholarships will be good in the School of Agriculture in Purdue University, providing the winner is fitted to meet the entrance requirements. One is to be offered any high school student in the counties of northern Indiana served by one line of the railroad, and another for southern Indiana served by another line. The scholarships will be available next fall.

The Purdue Egg show is the pioneer of its kind in the country. It was started in 1908 by students of agriculture who put the management of the show—at that time small and unpretentious—into the hands of freshmen students. The show has grown ever since, until it is now the largest as well as the oldest in the country. Its management is still in the hands of freshmen, who gain from the conduct of the show not only a useful knowledge of eggs and egg values, but also an equally useful experience in an administration. Last year there were exhibited 900 dozens of eggs from all parts of the United States and steps are being taken this year to obtain exhibits from foreign countries, and already inquiries have been received from Holland and England asking for the date of the show and information concerning it. It is the aim of the committee in charge this year to include in the exhibit eggs of all kinds from all parts of the country, and indications are that the number of eggs entered this year will surpass even the record entry of 1924.

900 FARMERS AT BETTER BULL DAY

Fulton County Jersey Cattle Club Put on Special Day Exercises on March 11

Dairymen are Given Valuable Jersey Bull and See Scrub Sentenced to Death

Rochester, Ind., March 25—Approximately 900 farmers attended Better Bull day exercises, which were held here March 11, in co-operation with the Fulton County Jersey Cattle Club. Young Men's Business Association Agricultural Department of the Erie Railroad and Agricultural Extension Department of Purdue University. The program which occupied most of the afternoon was held in the Community building and local banks and some of the business houses closed during the exercises.

One of the big events of the program was the presentation of a registered Jersey bull, valued at $700, to the Jersey club from the farm of President Underwood of the Erie railroad. The bull was given here because of the splendid interest shown last fall when a "better bull" train was operated through the county by the Erie in co-operation with Purdue. The presentation was made by Col. F. G. Robbins, vice-president of the railroad, and the formal acceptance was made by R. S. Landin, county agent. The sire will be kept by one of the club members for the service of all those in the Jersey club. With a record of 753 pounds of butterfat, average, for his five nearest dams, the bulls is expected to accomplish considerable in the improvement of local herds.

Another feature was the trial of a scrub bull and its subsequent sentence to be shot for committing most of the crimes on a court calendar. Local farmers constituted the jury and Judge Carr of the Circuit Court occupied the bench. The local prosecutor handled the case against the bull and another local lawyer acted as the defendant's attorney, making an eloquent plea for his life. However the bull was sentenced and the "funeral" conducted on the stage, with local business men as pall bearers and some of the farmers as mourners. W. H. Senour, Brookville banker and dairy farmer "preached" the funeral oration.

HEMLOCK SPROUTS CAUSE OF ILLNESS

Stock of Any Kind That Takes Sick in Early Spring, May be Caused From the Water Disease

Young Sprouts of Water Hemlock, Very Small in Size, is Sufficient to do Much Injury

When cattle, sheep or horses exhibit symptoms of poisoning during the early spring after grazing on land containing a stream or other moist places, the trouble may be due to water hemlock sprout poisoning, according to A. A. Hansen of the Purdue University Agricultural Extension staff.

The young sprouts of water hemlock usually appear during late March before the grass has gotten a good start and experiments have demonstrated that from three to eight ounces of the young tops will kill a sheep. Later when the leaves expand the tops apparently lose their poisonous properties. The tender young sprouts, which are readily grazed by sheep and other animals, can be identified by digging into the ground for the tuberous roots, which somewhat resemble a cluster of small sweet potatoes.

The usual symptoms of water hemlock poisoning are muscular twitching followed shortly by intermittent convulsions accompanied by grating of the teeth and violent suffering. Death ordinarily results within a few hours, preceded in some cases by a period of quiet. On account of the rapid action of the poison, little can be done to save affected animals. On Indiana farms where stock is lost after exhibiting the symptoms described, it is best to keep grazing animals off the pasture containing wet places until the grass has gotten a good start. Later when the water hemlock flowers, the roots should be grubbed out and destroyed. The poison is confined to the roots and young shoots.

READY ROOFINGS

Workmen instantly
recognize its quality

A WORKMAN can recognize Carey roofing after the wrapper from the roll is thrown away.

Compared with roll goods of equal weight, there is a toughness that distinguishes the Carey product.

It is the quality in the felt that not only makes it tougher, but causes it to absorb more asphalt saturant.

To insure superior felt, rags are sorted right in the Carey plant, and all felt used in Carey roofing is made according to Carey tested specifications in the Carey factory.

It is only natural that this tougher, better saturated roofing should give the longer service for which it is famous.

Crop Estimating by U. S. Department of Agriculture Will Serve Big Help to All Farmers

WILL REGULATE THE SUPPLY

Ups and Downs in Production and Prices Will be Remedied and Orderly Marketing Planned

Great improvements in the adjustment of the supply of farm products to the demand are made possible as a result of recent innovations in crop estimating and forecasting by the United States Department of Agriculture. Forecasts of the production of some crops and livestock have attained enough accuracy to indicate future price trends. Farmers can use such forecasts in planning their planting and breeding operations. In this way ups and downs, both in production and prices, can be made less extreme and orderly marketing is facilitated. Indeed, some regulation of production is almost a prerequisite of orderly marketing. When efficiency in seed selection, soil culture and crop rotation is supplemented by an intelligent adjustment of production to probable market demands, farming is much more likely to show a profit than when crop and livestock enterprises are undertaken regardless of indicated price trends and supply conditions.

Crop and livestock reporting by the department now covers 74 crops and all classes of livestock. Its value is universally recognized. Official crop statistics protect the farmer by lessening the effect of misleading private reports. They help to stabilize prices and reduce speculative marketing by furnishing increased certainty as to supplies. They aid in financing crop movements, and in facilitating transportation and distribution. Important as this service is, however, it is overshadowed in promise of direct benefit to the farmer by some of the newer activities of the department, particularly its efforts to help in adjusting agricultural production to the probable demand.

These newer activities include surveys of livestock and field crop production plans and production prospects. Twice a year, on June 1 and December 1, the department makes a pig survey, as a result of which it forecasts the number of hogs that will be marketed the following autumn and winter. The forecasts, which were started three years ago, have been very close to the actual receipts at the principal markets. Farmers have profited from the advance knowledge thus given. An example of benefit to the farmers from the pig survey was furnished two years ago, when the survey showed farmers intended to breed an increase of 49 percent in the number of sows for fall litters. Warnings were sent out and the actual increase was only about 25 percent.

The pig surveys have tended to stabilize hog prices. Hog production in 1923 and 1924, as a result of bumper corn crops, was the largest ever known. This development was forecast by the department. Farmers accordingly reduced their breeding operations so that the tendency to overproduction was somewhat checked, and packers stored less pork than usual so that in the period of heaviest marketing prices had not to sustain the additional weight of large accumulated supplies. The result was lessened price fluctuation. In other words, the forecast of overproduction enabled farmers and packers to deal intelligently with the problem that the large supply created.

Another illustration of the practical value of the Government's forecasts of forthcoming hog supplies has been furnished in the last few months. A pig survey made last June indicated the farmers were probably going too far in their efforts to correct the condition brought about by the previous period of large production. They were curtailing their breeding operations too much. In consequence a heavy reduction in hog production was forecast, and the prediction was made that the price of hogs would probably go to $14 a hundred pounds this summer. This prediction has already been fulfilled, in spite of the fact that the winter new record marketing of hogs. The forecast of a shortage was so confidently relied on that prices advanced notwithstanding runs of hogs far in excess of current consumption needs.

POULTRY NOTES

How to Get 60 to 75 Cents for Eggs

March and April hatched chicks properly cared for will bring profitable returns from broilers as well as high priced eggs in October, November and December. Correct summer and fall management of the pullets will make a fall molt unlikely.

Proper Care of Eggs

To insure good fertility one male is necessary to every 15 to 20 hens of the dual purpose breeds, and one male to every 15 to 25 hens of the egg breeds. Better fertility will be obtained with the fowls out on free range. Gathering the eggs to be set several times a day will prevent their chilling. A larger percentage of these eggs will hatch if not held over seven to ten days. An ideal temperature at which to hold these eggs before incubation is 50 to 60 degrees.

Eggs for hatching should weigh 24 to 28 ounces to the dozen, should be uniform in shape and color, and with good, strong smooth shell texture. Extremely large or porous shell eggs will not hatch well.

Custom Matching Raising Chicks

Many farmers who have been hatching with hens or small incubators will find it to their advantage to take their eggs to a reliable hatchery to have them hatched or else buy baby chicks. This will enable them to hatch earlier and get chicks of one age, an advantage in growing chicks.

Save This Year's Chicks—By

1. Hatching only from mature, selected, blood-tested males and females.

2. Brooding chicks with a hard coal stove in a portable brooder house on new disease free soil.

3. Reducing brooder temperature from 100 degrees (at edge or hover) after the first week as rapidly as the comfort of chicks permits.

4. Getting chicks out on the ground when a week old even though weather is chilly.

5. Giving nothing to drink but skim milk, buttermilk or semi-solid for at least the first month.

6. Giving no feed or drink till chicks are 48 hours old. For the first few days it is safest to feed only the finely cracked chick grains suggested in Purdue Leaflet No. 72, giving only what is cleaned up in about 20 minutes.

7. Giving no mash the first five days. After this start gradually on mash as suggested in Leaflet 72, always preceding the mash with a grain feed to prevent over feeding on the mash.

8. Placing chicks on full mash feed after the second week and reducing at same time grain feeds to only two or three times per day.

9. Writing for Purdue Extension Leaflet 71, 72, 73, 128, and Extension Bulletins 52, 101, and 123. H. W. Fitting, Division of Poultry, Bush.

DODDER IS BAD IN CLOVER SEED

When buying clover seed, one of the principal impurities to be on the lookout for is dodder. Dodder trouble is on the increase in Indiana, a statement verified by a study of the official analyses of samples of clover seed gathered in all parts of the state last season and analyzed at Purdue. Of 531 samples, 110 contained dodder while 33 of 111 samples of alfalfa seed were contaminated with the pest.

Inquiry regarding the dodder situation was recently made by A. A. Hansen, of the Purdue University Agricultural extension staff, among a number of Indiana's leading seed houses and practically all seedsmen agree that the problem is becoming serious. A firm in Evansville states that "75 percent of the seed which has been offered this season (1924) contains dodder. This section is foul with dodder." A Ligonier seed house says "we do not buy any domestic seed unless it is absolutely free from dodder," while a wholesale seed house at Carmel agrees that "dodder is a serious menace to the Indiana farmer." From a large Crawfordsville seed company comes that statement that "we consider dodder at this time to be the most serious weed we have to contend with."

Last year a number of Indiana farmers contaminated their land with dodder. For instance, County Agent, R. N. Thomas of Jefferson County states that last season "several farmers in Jefferson County had this pest for the first time." The Indiana seed law requires that the number of dodder seeds per pound contained in all clover and alfalfa seed sold in Indiana in quantities of one pound or more must be stated on the back of the label. Farmers who buy clover seed are urged to carefully examine the label before purchasing and if dodder is present, the seed should be refused, particularly if the pest is not already on the farm.

Purdue University Horticultural Department

Putting New Life in The Lawn

Nothing adds more to the attractive appearance of a home grounds than a thick thrifty luxuriant lawn. Grass plants, however, require food with which to grow and combat the pestiferous lawn weeds such as fox tail and crab grass. In many cases the lawn has not received an application of fertilizer for years.

Mulching the lawn with a coating of manure over winter is one method of furnishing a new food supply to the grass plants but unfortunately this treatment usually brings with it a fresh supply of noxious weed seed. For this reason a better plan, at least to start with, is to apply a dressing of commercial fertilizer. Scatter the fertilizer about the time the grass is first showing green in the spring.

In many towns a special high grade lawn fertilizer is available, analyzing five or six percent of nitrogen, ten or twelve percent phosphoric acid and three or four percent potash. A common commercial fertilizer analyzing 2-10-2 can always be purchased and by adding twenty-five pounds of sulphate of ammonium to 125 pounds of the 2-10-2 fertilizer, the resulting mixture makes an excellent lawn fertilizer. Apply about twenty pounds of either of the above fertilizer mixture to 1000 square feet of lawn.

Most lawns would be benefited by a yearly application of grass seed. Seeding should be done during March and on a still morning following a night which has been cold enough to freeze a crust on the ground. If white clover is desired in the lawn use one part of white clover seed to ten parts Blue Grass. Sow two pounds of seed to 3,000 square feet of lawn. Another good seed mixture is half Red Top and half Kentucky Blue Grass.

A more complete discussion of the care of lawns can be obtained by writing the Purdue University Agricultural Extension Department for Leaflet 41.
